Eden Says U. S., Britain See No H-Test Danger

LONDON, Feb. 13 (P)—Prime Minister Eden said today Britain and the United States are sure the human race won't be endangered by radiation from H-bomb tests. His statement in the House of Commons was regarded as the agreed British-U.S. stand in the face of demands that nuclear tests should be abolished.

India, a member of the British Commonwealth, has taken the lead in demanding an end to H-bomb tests. The Soviet Union has written the idea into some of its disarmament proposals.

Eden said the question of regulating or limiting tests of nuclear weapons came up in his recent talks with President Eisenhower in Washington.

Both Nations Plan Tests

The Prime Minister said he was "bound to report that Her Majesty's government and the U.S. government at present share the conviction that the radiation dose to human beings arising from the testing of megaton weapons at the present rate is insignificant compared with the radiation dose received from natural causes."

Washington has announced plans to test more H-bombs in the Pacific this year. Britain has indicated she will press ahead with her own development of the H-bomb.

Eden said he and Eisenhower had agreed on action to be taken in the Middle East and Europe to preserve peace and Western security.

Far East Differences

But the Prime Minister acknowledged differences in Far Eastern policy.

"We discussed these together," he added. "We have not receded from our position, nor is it fair to say have the U.S. government modified theirs."

The British view is that Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese Nationalists should withdraw from the offshore islands to Formosa. Eisenhower has refused to accept the British argument that a water buffer zone in Formosa Strait would enhance chances of preserving peace in that area.

Tokyo Rocked By Sharp Quake

TOKYO, Tuesday, Feb. 14 (P)—A frightening earthquake hit Tokyo with a crack and a long roll at 9:54 a.m. today but the city apparently escaped damage.

The underground jolt rattled and shook big steel and concrete buildings for about 30 seconds. Quiet soon returned to the oft-rocked nation's capital.

The Central Meteorological Observatory said the quake hit 4 on a scale of 7 for maximum intensity. It shook an area more than 100 miles in diameter.

The center of the quake was spotted about 50 miles north of Tokyo and 30 miles underground. The earth apparently absorbed most of the shock and held damage to a minimum of shattered glassware and nerves.

Few residents could recall such a violent quake in the capital since the war. Two smaller quakes rocked Tokyo last Friday.

Vote Of Confidence

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector, Feb. 13 (P)—Premier David Ben-Gurion's government won a vote of confidence tonight in the Knesset (parliament) on its handling of the week-long strike of 6,000 professional employees in the public service.

Three opposition parties — the General Zionists, Herut and Communists — filed motions of no-confidence in the administration. The motions were rejected 58-29.

Avalanches Add To Europe Cold Wave Death Toll

LONDON, Feb. 13 (P)—Avalanche disasters in Yugoslavia and new storms boosted the death toll to 350 tonight in the third week of Europe's coldest wave of the 20th century.

Belgrade radio said 58 Yugoslavs lost their lives and another 19 were gravely injured in slides that buried several villages in the mountains of southern Yugoslav Macedonia. Many others were missing.

The crash of a mercy plane added to the toll.

12-Foot Snowdrifts

Fresh snowstorms swirled across the continent already chilled by days of frigid blasts from Siberia. Yugoslav troops joined mountaineers in rescue efforts but were handicapped by snowdrifts 12 feet deep in places. A relief train with doctors, equipment and food bucked its way through the snow to the stricken area. Hardest hit was the Mavrovo power station, 10 miles east of the Albanian frontier.

In Austria, two women were believed killed in avalanches. Upward of 600 villages in Italy, France, Greece and Yugoslavia were isolated by the snow.

Greek Plane Crashes

The U. S. Air Force and aircraft of European nations shuttled out on mercy missions with blankets, clothes, food and fuel.

The wreckage of a Greek air force Dakota — on a mercy flight with 17 persons aboard — was spotted on 5,800 foot Mt. Dyrphos, 50 miles north of Athens. Rescue parties were not expected to reach the scene before tomorrow because of heavy snow. They held out little hope of any survivors.

Cars Collide In River

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Feb. 13 (P)—A truck collided with a woman's car in the middle of the St. Marys River today. But it wasn't the woman driver's fault.

The two vehicles were aboard the Drummond Island ferry en route to De Tour when the truck, owned by Frank Miller, jumped a wheel buck. It struck the car of Mrs. Sune Bucht, causing about $100 damage.

Ike Pleased With Display, New Weapon In Cold War

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (P)—The government today showed off its latest weapon in the war of ideas against the Communists. It's called "People's Capitalism in the U.S.A."

President Eisenhower, making his first public appearance at such an event since his heart attack last September, was the first to inspect the exhibit. He spent 15 minutes examining the display at the union station and said he was "delighted" with it, that he "liked it very much."

The exhibit will be shipped to Europe and Asia for display this year in an effort to "combat Communist lies about our way of life."

It's a visual study of American life—industrial, cultural, religious,

Lloyd Hits Red Deceit In Case Of Renegades

LONDON, Feb. 13 (P)—The British told the Russians today the sudden Moscow unveiling of Donald Maclean and Guy Burgess could not drive a wedge between Britain and the United States.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd accused Kremlin leaders of "lack of candor" in pretending for more than four years they knew nothing about the former diplomats who vanished from British sight May 12, 1951.

Lloyd told a tense House of Commons the Russians would fail if they tried to make propaganda use of the ex-diplomats to drive a wedge—as he put it—between the United States and Britain.

Unveiling Of Pair Won't Split Britain, U. S., Commons Told

He said the Russians might have timed the unveiling of the two men Saturday to upset the accord reached between Prime Minister Eden and President Eisenhower in their recent Washington talks.

The foreign secretary was commenting on speculation in government circles that the Kremlin brought forth the renegade Britons to revive American doubts about the sharing of atomic and other secrets with Britain.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur already has suggested that Burgess and Maclean—accused by the Foreign Office of being long-term Soviet spies—leaked information about American orders of battle during the Korean War.

Russians "Knew Nothing"

Lloyd said Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev only recently had parried British queries about Burgess and Maclean, reporting they knew nothing of their whereabouts.

"The House must form its own opinion about the veracity of those statements," Lloyd said. "This kind of conduct shows how difficult it is to establish relations of mutual trust, which the Soviet Union professes so much to desire."

Eden followed Lloyd's blast against the Russians with an enthusiastic report to the Commons on his meeting with Eisenhower.

"I was impressed by the renewed vigor and enduring friendship of the President of the United States," the Prime Minister declared amid cheers.

Reds Assemble For Congress

MOSCOW, Feb. 13 (P)—Leaders of world communism assembled in Moscow tonight to hear from Soviet party boss Nikita Khrushchev the line Communists will follow in the Soviet Union and abroad for the next four years.

Khrushchev is to open the 20th Congress of the Communist Party in St. George's Hall of the Grand Kremlin Palace tomorrow with a speech which is expected to be a most important pronouncement. But what he has to say will not be made public until the party decides to permit publication of the speech. The congress sessions will be in secret.

The Communist party newspaper Pravda customarily prints the texts of such speeches, beginning the day after the opening session. Khrushchev's, however, may be so long that it will have to be released in installments over several days.

His review of Soviet and world affairs is the first item on the program. It is to be followed by a financial report by Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin describing the already published five-year plan. Then will come elections to the central committee, the controlling board of the party.

Grateful Priest Sends $25 Gift To U. S. Tax Office

DALLAS, Tex., Feb. 13 (P)—The Dallas Internal Revenue Office got a $25 check today from a priest "as an expression of my deep gratitude before God to this big, great, free and blessed country."

The tax office refused to identify the sender but an accompanying letter said "I have been living in Texas for several years as an immigrant priest, and I know the price of liberty, having been in two concentration camps under the Nazis. . . ."

The writer added: "I am embarrassed that I cannot give more in my appreciation to this government. . . ."

U. Of Ala. To Appeal Integration Ruling

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 13 (P)—The University of Alabama announced today that the order opening the school to Negroes will be appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court.

The appeal will be from a Dec. 30 decision by the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans which upheld the ruling of U. S. Dist. Judge Hobart Grooms at Birmingham.

Grooms held that the university cannot exclude Negroes as students because of their race.

The university admitted Autherine Lucy as a student in obedience to the federal court order. She was excluded from the campus recently after increasingly violent demonstrations on the three days she appeared for classes.

Declares He Never Called HST Traitor

Vice President Also Denies Saying Demos "Party Of Treason"

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (P)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon said tonight he never called Harry S. Truman a traitor, as the former Democratic President complained, "I did not call Mr. Truman a traitor, absolutely not," Nixon told reporters.

Nor, he added, did he call the Democratic party the "party of treason" or question the loyalty of any of its leaders.

"I have always said that there is only one party for treason in the United States and that is the Communist party," Nixon declared. "In all my public speeches and private talks I have always said that the loyalty of Truman, (Adlai E.) Stevenson and all the leaders of the Democratic party should not be questioned—only their judgment. The Alger Hiss case speaks for itself. Mr. Truman called it a red herring."

Remarks Made HST "Mad"

Truman several times recently has accused Nixon of calling him a traitor during 1952 campaign talks "all over the West." The former President said the alleged remarks made him fighting mad.

Nixon had kept silent on the growing political tempest stirred up by Truman's accusation. However, he made his public denial as he flew in to speak at a Lincoln Day dinner of the National Republican Club.

In his prepared address, Nixon called Stevenson "the great hair-splitter of 1956" who "lately shrinks at the suggestion that the U. S. may have found it necessary to be on the brink of war in order to keep the peace."

Harriman Draws Fire

Nixon labeled New York's Gov. Averell Harriman an "expensive political accident temporarily occupying the governor's mansion in Albany" and predicted election next November of a Republican to replace Sen. Herbert H. Lehman (D-N.Y.).

In his address, Nixon referred to what he termed "the magnificent record of the first three years of what all of us hope will be eight years of the Eisenhower administration."

At the airport, he declined to speculate on whether President Eisenhower will run again.

Toledo Gas Blast Fatal To Three

TOLEDO, Ohio, Feb. 13 (P)—A gas explosion killed three workers in a downtown wholesale meat house early today. A fourth, at the center of the blast, survived.

Stanley Damschroder, 55, said that when he flicked his cigarette lighter "the whole place went boom." His fellow workers, Paul Berchording, 54, Melvin Kegelman, 46, and James Libhart, 41, died as the three-story brick building was demolished.

The 4 a.m. blast in the cooling room of Beegle meats division of Hygrade Food Products Co. also demolished three adjacent buildings, all deserted, and shattered windows for two blocks around. Windows were broken in the Commodore Perry hotel, the city's largest, less than two blocks away.

James Dunn, 40, a laborer walking to work, was buried by debris and suffered internal injuries. Both he and Damschroder, who was burned on the head and hands, are expected to recover. They are in Mercy Hospital.

Burglar Should Have Red Face

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 13 (P)—Police think a burglar who broke into a parking lot shed here last night should be red-faced indeed.

Charles W. Beeler, operator of the lot, aroused by numerous burglaries, rigged up a surprise for anyone entering the shed illegally.

He put an open can of red paint inside over the door and connected it with a wire so it would trip when the door opened.

It must have worked. Police said paint markings indicated the intruder not only got the full shower, but also slipped on the floor.

U. S. - British Plans Threat To Mideast Peace, Russia Says

MOSCOW, Feb. 13 (P)—Soviet Russia asserted today the Eden-Eisenhower declaration on the Middle East "cannot but disturb peace" in that area. It warned against any use of foreign troops there without a prior agreement of countries concerned and U. N. approval.

A statement issued to correspondents at the Soviet Foreign Ministry said "any activities aimed at complicating and increasing tension in the region of the Middle and Near East cannot but be a matter of legal jurisdiction and interest for the Soviet Union" because the situation there is directly related to Soviet security.

The ministry said its statement was prompted by the declaration by Prime Minister Eden and President Eisenhower Feb. 1 after their consultations in Washington.

Declaration Recalled

The section of that declaration dealing with the Middle East said Britain and the United States are ready to contribute to a settlement between Israel and the Arab states by financial aid to refugees and guaranteeing agreed frontiers.

It recalled the U. S.-British-French declaration pledging joint action inside and outside the U. N. in the event of forcible violation of frontiers or armistice lines and announced a special conference of these three powers on the Middle East.

Eden and Eisenhower also said security of Middle East states depends on international rule of law and that the Soviet bloc's supplying arms to the Middle East "added to the tensions in the area and increased the risk of war."

U. S. Troops Not Mentioned

They said they would welcome recommendations to enlarge the staff of U. N. observers in Palestine and increase their functions.

No mention was made of sending British or U. S. troops into the Middle East, but the Soviet statement said:

"Well-known facts prove there is a contradiction between such declarations and some of the activities of the Western powers in relation to the countries of the Near and Middle East. In addition, recent press reports have said that certain powers are planning to send their troops into this area. These reports have not been contradicted."

Ike's Spending Plans Draw AFL-CIO Fire

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 13 (P)—The AFL-CIO executive council said today that President Eisenhower's social spending plans are "half-hearted in conception" and inadequate to meet welfare and economic needs.

The council called for "substantial" wage increases in 1956 and urged a tax cut for lower income families, plus school, road, hospital, housing and other federal aid programs more ambitious than the administration is sponsoring.

A political analysis made for the 29-man policy group of the merged labor organizations conceded, however, that Eisenhower's spending proposals have "to a large extent deprived the Democrats of some of their most appealing issues."

No Marriage Plans

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 13 (P)—Jean Pierre Aumont and Marisa Pavan today denied a published report they were to be married soon.

"Just very good friends," they said.

President To Get Valentine Day Medical Report

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (P)—President Eisenhower will get a Valentine Day medical report tomorrow on the condition of his heart. On Wednesday he will leave for a vacation in Georgia, and he may reach a final decision there on whether to seek re-election.

A team of physicians including Dr. Paul Dudley White of Boston will meet at the White House around noon tomorrow to start analyzing the results of a series of tests the President underwent Saturday at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital.

Report To Sway Decision

The doctors will tell Eisenhower how his heart is standing the strain of the presidency more than 4½ months after suffering a coronary thrombosis in Denver last Sept. 24.

His last previous full-scale examination was in mid-December.

At that time the physicians said they should know by the middle of February just how complete Eisenhower's recovery was going to be.

The President plans to weigh the results of the new physical in deciding whether to run again, but he told a news conference last week he probably will rely more on how he feels than on the doctors' reports.

March 1 Announcement Seen

The President also said last week he should have enough information by March 1 to make up his mind about bidding for a second term. And he strongly indicated he would announce his plans around that time.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said today the President will leave by plane Wednesday morning for about a week's vacation at the 600-acre plantation of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey at Thomaston, Ga.

The doctors probably will permit him to do some quail hunting there, and he may get in a bit of practice golf.

U. S. Planes Rush Aid

ROME, Feb. 13 (P)—Lumbering U. S. C-119 Flying Box Cars bucked bad weather tonight to rush emergency aid across the Alps to Italy.

One of the huge planes was forced down by engine trouble at Pisa. But later it limped southward to Rome to unload its blankets and C-rations destined for thousands of Italians beset by paralyzing snow and cold.

Adlai Uninjured As Snow Tractor Rolls Into Canyon

TIMBERLINE LODGE, Ore., Feb. 13 (P)—A snow tractor broke through an overhanging snow cornice and rolled over, carrying Adlai Stevenson and five others into a snow canyon on Mt. Hood today. No one was hurt in the drop of about 35 feet.

Stevenson, campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination, said he braced his hands on the metal sides and top of the vehicle as it started to go over. The driver, John Macone of the lodge staff, cut the ignition swiftly as the tractor started to roll.

Stevenson, veteran district forest ranger, said Macone's action prevented a fire. The party, he said, was "very lucky."

Stevenson was in the front with Macone. In the rear were Wiesie, Alfred Corbett, Portland attorney

Grand Inquest

Business Hit Hardest By Transit Walkout

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 13 (P)—A downward business volume in downtown Baltimore was pinpointed today as the major ill effect of the two-week-old transit strike.

Otherwise, the opening of an unprecedented Grand Inquest into the strike brought forth statements by a labor representative that workers were getting to and from work by a school official that absenteeism was nil, and by two improvement association spokesmen that life is inconvenient but not severe.

And a Republican city delegate decried what he called apathy of the public for whom the first hearing was held.

Del. Culotta (R-Balto 3rd) observed at the end of the 2 hour, 11 minute hearing that the attendance in the public galleries was sparse and attendance on the House floor besides the legal staff included "eight to 10 representatives of business, 12 reporters, 30-35 delegates and two representatives of public improvement associations."

"Does this mean the public feels that the Grand Inquest cannot accomplish anything?" he asked.

A majority of the delegates in attendance were from the city and only about 10 from the counties. The House of Delegates, which sits as a whole in the Grand Inquest, numbers 123, 87 from the counties.

The Retail Merchants Assn. and Assn. of Commerce painted the darkest picture of the strike through its effects on business downtown.

"The greatest impact has been felt in the principal downtown shopping district," said William G. Ewald, executive vice president of the retail merchants.

"Apologizing for a limited and quick survey on account of time—the Grand Inquest was ordered a week ago—Ewald said business in seven big department stores is off $100,000 a day compared with the same period two years ago.

Ewald said the comparison with last year was not made because snowstorms "would distort the picture."

The drop in business from two years ago is 36.1 per cent, Ewald said. Smaller stores reported the same decline.

Ewald said complete figures on whether business in suburban branches of the big department stores had risen had not been compiled. But he stated "they have not enjoyed a compensable increase in volume to offset the substantial losses in downtown Baltimore."

Ewald said merchandise orders have been curtailed, transportation of goods in decline, and 1,000 of about 12,000 department store employees out of work as side effects.

Senate Upholds McKeldin Veto Of Surplus Bill

ANAPOLIS, Feb. 13 (P)—The Maryland Senate tonight sharply reversed its stand of last year and sustained Gov. McKeldin's veto of a bill to limit the State surplus to 2 million dollars in any year.

Sixteen senators voted to uphold the veto and only 10 to override it.

In passing the measure last year, not a dissenting vote was cast.

Sen. Turnbull (D-Balto County), sponsor of the measure which was aimed at applying anything over a 2 million dollar surplus to the state's capital improvements program and a rising debt, made a vain plea to get it through again.

He argued it was a logical answer to leveling off a rising State debt and putting Maryland's capital improvements program on more of a pay-as-you-go basis.

"The time comes eventually when we must think not only of the present, but of the future," said the majority floor leader. "If this bill had been into effect as to the present budget, with a 2 per cent interest rate involved, the State would have saved more than two million dollars over the life of the bonds."

Two Children Killed In Crash

FERNDAL, Md., Feb. 13 (P)—Two 7-year-old school girls were killed and four other children were injured today when, police said, a truck ramed a station wagon at a traffic light near Arnold.

Anne Arundel County police said a school crossing guard said the truck went through a red light.

The dead: Susan Goodale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Goodale of near Winchester, killed outright when thrown from the station wagon.

Suellen McGillivray, daughter of Archie McGillivray of Winchester-on-the-Severn, who died at Anne Arundel General Hospital in Annapolis.

Four other children were treated at hospitals and released.

Mrs. Vivian E. Smith, 33, of Winchester-on-the-Severn, mother of one of the injured children, was driving the youngsters to the Arnold Elementary School about 4 miles north of Annapolis when the collision occurred.

Pvt. H. E. Wehner of the county police said the car was hit in the right side by a milk truck by Norman Winfield Wright, 40, Negro, of Denton. The truck overturned. Charges of manslaughter and reckless driving were filed against Wright. Mrs. Smith was charged with reckless driving.

Konrad Adenauer, at 80, is the Western world's oldest chief of government of a major nation.

Robbery Believed Motive For Slaying Of Cub Scout

WHEELING, W. Va., Feb. 13 (P)—A law officer suggested robbery today as the probable motive in the slaying of a 9-year-old Cub Scout. Meanwhile, two brothers still insisted they were innocent of the crime.

Prosecutor Joseph Gompers said "robbery probably was the motive because money probably was taken" from the victim, David Powell. David was selling tickets to a neighborhood Cub Scout show when he disappeared last Thursday evening.

His body—the skull shattered—was found next day beneath the front porch of the Thomas Williams' home, Williams' 14-year-old twin sons, Thomas Jr. and Joseph, are charged with murder.

The father said today, "I am convinced my boys had nothing to do with it. David was at my house Wednesday to sell tickets to the show and my wife told him to come back on payday. David played with my boys. They got along good together."

Gompers said he would not present the case to the Ohio County grand jury which convenes tomorrow. He hasn't received a report from state police on an analysis of stains found on trousers of one of the twins.

Nor has he received a report on a lie detector test given by Cpl. James Baisden of the state police to the twins and 12-year-old Leo Bradford, a playmate.

William Callahan, the twins' attorney, said results of the tests were "substantially the same" for all three boys. They proved "absolutely nothing," he said.

Gompers said that was "Callahan's version of it." He added, "in talking to the witnesses, I might say that Mr. Callahan has not talked with those we have talked to."

TV Movies Taken Of Grand Inquest

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 13 (P)—Television movies of the Grand Inquest into the Baltimore Transit Co. strike were made today along with photographs for newspapers despite an earlier decision the screen cameras should be barred.

Del. Boone (D-Balto County), chairman of the Grand Inquest, "explained" after the hearing to delegates that he had been asked and granted permission for the photography.

He said this was according to the regular rule of the House of Delegates that pictures may be taken while it is in session with permission of the speaker.

Navy Learns Plane Hit Antarctic Peak

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (P)—The Navy learned today that the Otter plane which crashed with seven men in the antarctic 10 days ago flew into a snow covered mountain after its wings had been weighted down by ice.

The crew members, rescued after a six-day vigil in the frozen wastes, were reported "in excellent physical condition."

A Navy message from Little America said several of the survivors will remain in the antarctic over the winter with the party which will continue weather studies and prepare for the arrival of another expedition later this year.

Woman, Four Children Found Clubbed To Death

SHERBROOKE, Que., Feb. 13 (P)—Four children and their pregnant mother were found clubbed to death today in their modest home. The husband and father, known to neighbors as a devoted family man, was taken into custody as a material witness on a tip from his brother, a parish priest at nearby Waterloo, Que.

Police said the victims—Mrs. Romeo Drapeau, 38, her three sons, Claude, 7, Pierre, 6, and Michel, 3, and a baby daughter, Manon—were beaten to death with an ax and a heavy stick.

Police said Drapeau went to his brother in Waterloo a short time later. The priest informed police, who took Drapeau into custody.

Divorcee Admits Killing Politician

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 13 (P)—An attractive young divorcee admitted to police today she shot Walter A. Siebert, prominent St. Louis County politician, in the back and returned the next day to his home to burn the body.

Siebert, 59, a widower who was chief supervisor of the county highway department and member of the county GOP committee, was found shot to death today in his burning home.

Mrs. June Joy Milton, 28, twice-married divorcee and mother of a five-year-old boy, was quoted by Prosecutor Edward W. Garnholz as saying she killed Siebert about 2 a.m. yesterday and set fire to the home early today "to destroy the evidence."

"Yes, I shot him," Garnholz quoted her as saying. "He had it coming and I'm not sorry."

Mrs. Milton said in a detailed statement she had seen Siebert two or three times weekly since she met him three years ago, that they had discussed marriage and that he was jealous, Garnholz said.

The prosecutor said the woman told authorities Siebert had threatened her and had tried to shoot her.

Transit Strikers Due To Submit 'Package'

BALTIMORE, Feb. 13 (P)—Union negotiators prepared tonight to submit a "package proposal" of all contract requests at an 8 p.m. meeting in Mayor D'Alesandro's office with representatives of the Baltimore Transit Co.

The arrangement, agreed upon this afternoon at D'Alesandro's office, was viewed as a possible basis for resumption of bargaining talks.

The strike which stalled the city's buses and streetcars was in its 15th day today. Direct talks have been at a standstill since last week.

Jury To Decide If Negro Boycott Of Buses Illegal

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 13 (P)—A county grand jury composed of 17 white men and one Negro was told by Circuit Judge Eugene Carter today to determine whether the 10-week-old Negro boycott of city buses here is illegal.

E. T. Sinclair, a waiter, was the Negro seated on the grand jury.

Directing the jury to determine the legality or illegality of the organized refusal of Negroes to ride Montgomery city buses, the court declared:

"It is recognized under the Constitution, state and federal, that a person's business is property and if lawfully conducted is entitled to protection from unlawful interference."

"The essential idea of boycotting . . . is a confederation, generally secret, of many persons whose intent is to injure another by preventing any and all persons from doing business with him, through fear of incurring the displeasure, persecution and vengeance of the conspirators."

The boycott started Dec. 5 in protest against the arrest of a Negro woman who refused to move to the Negro section of a bus. The woman, Mrs. Rosa Parks, was fined $14 in city court.

Sen. Beall Speculates Montgomery Urged Eisenhower To Run

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 13 (P)—Sen. Beall (R-Md) speculated today that when Field Marshal Montgomery of Great Britain visited President Eisenhower last fall they talked mostly about the President's running again.

Montgomery had warm words of praise for the President at the conclusion of that visit at Fitzsimons General Hospital in Denver.

Beall said at a news conference: "The world knows they talked for several days at the hospital. We in Washington understand that what they talked about was the need of Eisenhower to run again."

"We understand that Montgomery brought a special message from Churchill. You can figure out the tenor of that yourself. Churchill would undoubtedly point out that if Eisenhower said something about age that Churchill would emphasize that he himself still was active at an advanced age and so was Chancellor Adenauer of Germany."

"You can also visualize Montgomery, as a close military friend of Eisenhower, reminding the President that no good soldier quits under pressure when he still can be of service to the world."

Bureau Working On Miner Shield

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (P)—The Bureau of Mines is working on a shield to protect miners from roof falls.

In testimony made public today James Westfield, assistant director of the bureau, told the House Appropriations subcommittee on Interior Department funds that more than half of all mine accidents resulted from the mine roof collapsing.

"We have one small group of men working on a project of trying to develop a shield that will protect the men in the face area, where most of the workmen are killed by roof falls," he said.

"About 80 per cent of the fatalities from falls of roof, face and rib are killed within 25 feet of the working face, and we are trying to develop some type of shield or protective covering for use in that area."

"At the moment we have not been able to come up with an overall protection, primarily because of the different types of mechanical equipment used in the mines."

The bureau, he said, is experimenting also with roof bolts and a cementing mixture to strengthen mine roofs.

In World War I, the name zero hour was given to the time set for a predetermined attack. Later it was changed to H-hour.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Take A Beauty Slant

When you're all "tied up in the knots" at the end of a particularly busy day, try this trick. Put your feet higher than your head. You'll be amazed how the tautness of your nerves vanishes and how refreshed you feel. It is wonderful, too, if you are stepping out for the evening and have no time to take a nap. It is a fine means of changing your circulation, and it even improves your looks by adding a fresh glow to your complexion and eyes.

Lie down on the floor on a hard flat surface is good. Put your feet on a stool. Or, flop on your bed with your head near the foot and rest your feet on the top of the headboard. Place two pillows under your buttocks.

After placing the feet up, take the following position: rest your arms, palms of hands turned down—relaxed. Now let your abdomen seem to fall right in against the spine and take three deep, deep breaths. And here is the next important step, think of peaceful, restful, relaxing things. The most restful thought for me is to pretend that I am lying on the sand on a beach.

Tomorrow—Tone down a ruddy skin.

Council Tables $4,900 Order To Bring House In Line With Other Dwellings

The question of whether the city is responsible for bringing a house into line with other residential properties on Frederick Street and from what source the funds should come, created a lengthy discussion among members of the Mayor and Council yesterday.

The 25-minute exchange, in a meeting which lasted less than an hour, concerns property owned by Stephen Freno at 465 Warren Street and involves an amount of $4,900.

The order as introduced would move the house 20 feet east from the present location.

The sum result was that the matter was deferred one week—until next Monday's meeting.

Questions Fund Source

The discussion was started by City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson who questioned whether the amount should be charged to the bond fund set up for the Frederick Street improvement project. He said since he understood there was no obligation in view of the fact the bond fund was set up for specific projects, the costs should be borne as an operating expense chargeable to the Street and Alley Department or the Contingent Fund.

The Urban Development Bonds of 1953, Gibson said, were issued for specific projects, Frederick Street, North George Street extension, widening of Franklin Street and widening of Thomas Street.

The amount of the bond issue, he said, was set according to estimates of the cost of the jobs.

Remaining in the Urban Development Bond fund, he said, was $76,638.38 on January 31, with only one project completed.

This brought a retort from Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz that he would not charge it to the street and alley fund.

Mayor Roy W. Eves expressed the opinion the charge would be the same as other costs of moving retaining walls or steps due to the widening of Frederick Street.

Eves claimed the city has no obligation to Freno "but we do have to the neighbors and to the city. There is a house on the corner of the sidewalk. I don't want any one in the next generation to point it out and say this administration never finished the job. The city is full of places like that and I think it is part of the project to put that house back in line with the others."

Expense Not Justified

Buchholz said he did not think the expense justified, and added that council has an obligation to the people of Cumberland to use the $112,000 which will be recovered from the Frederick project to cut through from George Street to Bedford Street and complete the Franklin Street widening project which has been promised.

These two projects are among the three specific ones for which the improvement bond fund was created.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan expressed the opinion that he did not think from the Freno standpoint, he (Freno) can force the city to pay on the basis of proximity or the fact that the sidewalk was narrowed.

Finan Commissioner John J. Long said this situation should have been handled earlier instead of bringing it up after the project is finished. He said he felt certain there are other properties in the city which project out just as much as the Freno property.

Sees Moral Debt

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan said he felt the city owes a moral debt to Freno since he had previously given the city land at a nominal fee.

Finan explained the land transaction coupled with moving of Freno's garage occurred about 15 years ago. He said he wanted the record kept straight that this was not any contract or separate transaction with Freno within the past few years.

Buchholz said, in regard to the 15-year-old transaction, he understood Freno had been told the street would never be more than 24 feet wide. The present improvement is 32 feet. The commissioner added Freno should have had that 24-foot pledge in writing and when the time came to improve Frederick Street, should have been paid for the eight foot difference.

"To pass this order is setting precedent that Lord knows where it will wind up in the next 15 or 20 years with all the projects taking place in this community," Buchholz added.

Eves said he would like to see everything (projects) cleaned up and not a lot of "tag ends."

House Across Street

Buchholz told council that directly across the street is another house sitting on the same angle as Freno's, but the only reason Freno's situation is so obvious is because the one-way street direction heads toward his house (right side).

Keegan wanted to know how much the sidewalk would be cut to get past Freno's at present. City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum said the grass plot between the sidewalk and curb would have to be reduced. The street line, he added, is within six inches of the house.

Buchholz also said he could not understand how a $300,000 project could be planned to end in the 700 block of Frederick Street, leaving approximately 1,700 feet of 24-foot street to be maintained by the city. The whole project, he continued, should have been started at Centre Street from the widening standpoint.

Astor Drivers Sign Contract

A new two-year contract has been signed by Local 453, Teamsters Union (AFL-CIO), and the Astor Cab Company, according to C. E. Stutzman, union business agent.

Stutzman said the new pact includes provision for a health and welfare program under which the cab firm will pay $9.75 monthly for each employee covered in the contract.

The health and welfare provision will provide hospitalization for each driver and also life insurance.

The pact will cover the period between February 1 this year to February 1, 1958.

Also included in the contract is a provision to pay new drivers a 35 per cent commission to start, 40 per cent after six months and 45 per cent thereafter. Experienced drivers who are hired by the company will start at the 45 per cent commission rate.

Stutzman also said negotiations are underway with the Yellow Top Cab Company, and indications are that a similar contract will be reached with them.

Three Navy men who enlisted here last fall are home on two weeks' leave, according to Chief Petty Officer Louis Knott, local recruiter.

They are Ronald B. McFadden, son of Mrs. James K. McFadden, 78 Blocher Street, Ridgeley; Hugh S. Friend, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh M. Friend, 49 Humbird Street and Donald G. Harvey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward K. Harvey, Bloomington.

The three men have completed basic training at Bainbridge Naval Training Station.

McFadden will report to the USS Siboney, an aircraft carrier now at Norfolk, Va.; Friend will report to Newport, R. I., for further training, and Harvey will report to the USS Lindewald, a landing ship at an Atlantic Coast port.

Phone Company To Give Safe Driving Awards

Safe driving awards will be presented to a group of C&P Telephone Company employees today and two of the men have amazing records.

C. Walter Haschert, local manager of the company, said the top workers for continuous safe driving are R. C. Diehl, manager of the Frostburg office of the firm, who has a safe driving record of 40 years, and Vincent J. Lindner, Bedford Road, an installer who has driven for 39 years without an accident.

Haschert said Diehl will retire this coming July, and if he has no accidents between now and then will have achieved a safe driving record for the entire period of his employment with the company.

Both Diehl and Lindner have been required to drive in all kinds of weather, with the former using chains on the front wheels of his car years ago during a typical winter snow storm in the Frostburg area.

Lindner many times has had to drive on "roads" barely more than paths along mountain sides.

Others with lengthy safe driving records are Earl Wilson, 539 Central Avenue, cable spicer, 29 years; Perry R. Ambrose, 624 Brookfield Avenue, supply foreman, 26 years; Reese I. Diehl, 512

Woodlawn Terrace, installer, 25 years; George O. Hinds, 641 Elm Street, installer, 25 years.

The awards, which are engraved certificates, will be presented to the men named, as well as a group with less than 25 years of safe driving, in a ceremony at the company service center and garage on Elder Street.

Lake Levels Up

Heavy rains have put Lake Koon to within three inches of the top of the spillway, a jump of more than 11 feet in the past two weeks.

Koon is three inches below the crest and Lake Gordon three feet below, a report by C. L. Brotemarkle, assistant superintendent of Everts Creek Water Company, to the Mayor and Council showed yesterday. Water consumption for the week ending Sunday was 82-

540,000 gallons, a daily average of 11,791,000. For the same period a year ago, it was 86,840,000.

City Hails B & O Plans For Yard Expansion Here

The city went on record yesterday thanking the B&O Railroad for investing $10,000,000 here to construct one of the largest and most modern classification yards in the nation.

Finance Commissioner John J. Long suggested that the Mayor and Council write a letter to Howard E. Simpson, B&O president, expressing its sentiments. "It's wonderful to know the city can look forward to that project," Long said.

His motion passed unanimously. Work on the project is expected to get underway early next fall and will take three and a half years to build.

It was recalled here that the B&O recently spent approximately one quarter million dollars for the widening of Thomas Street in South End.

In other action yesterday, council approved an agreement with the B&O for the storage of pipe for the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company water line in the railroad's rolling mill yard. Cost involved is $10 a month.

Two transactions for property needed for flood control were approved. Property involved was that of trustees of annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church and McKendree Methodist Church; and Stella Wertheimer.

Mayor Roy W. Eves was authorized to execute an option for the sale of all or parts of 31 tracts of land in favor of the U. S. government. Amount involved is $17,167. The mayor was also authorized to execute a deed to the U. S. for these easements or parcels in event of approval. The price is the federal share of the land acquisition cost previously paid by the city pursuant to values set by city and federal appraisers.

Council ordered payment of $1,369.24 to Miles, Walsh and Stockbridge, for professional services in giving opinion on the legality of the recent $750,000 water improvement bond issue.

Also ordered paid was $79,167.10 to Moyer Brothers construction firm for work on the sewage treatment plant between December 31—January 31.

Checks will be issued employees Wednesday for the first payroll period of the month.

Two Drivers Hurt In Headon Crash

The drivers of two automobiles involved in a headon collision Sunday on Old Furnace Road near Ridgeley were treated for minor injuries at Memorial Hospital.

Edward Hines, 24, of RD 1, Ridgeley, suffered a severe laceration of the right hand and a bruised right knee, and Charles Leroy Baldwin, 18, also of RD 1, Ridgeley, sustained a bad chin laceration.

Baldwin will face charges of driving on the wrong side of the highway at a hearing Friday evening before Justice of the Peace C. J. Phillips, Ridgeley, according to Cpl. Evan Moody of the West Virginia State Police detachment at Keyser, who investigated.

Area Resident Still Missing

Nine months ago yesterday Mineral County authorities started a search for a 73-year-old Keyser man reported missing from his home.

Authorities have followed lead after lead, but remain baffled over the mysterious disappearance of M. V. (Mike) Brannen, former police chief of Westernport.

The case developed when Mr. and Mrs. Orville Crites, with whom Brannen resided, informed police that the man did not return home on Friday May 13 last year.

The first lead came the following day with Attorney H. R. Taylor, of Keyser, notified police Brannen had stopped at his home on the night of May 13 and asked for directions to Main Street. The attorney told authorities Brannen appeared dazed and that blood was trickling from a wound on his left temple.

Taylor told police that his home is located near the Potomac River, and said that Brannen appeared confused and might have turned in the wrong direction when he headed for Main Street.

B&O Car Inspector Retires Here After 50 Years Service

A veteran B&O Railroad Company car inspector here has retired after half a century of service.

He is Oswald G. Zollner, 26 Pershing Drive, Potomac Park. He began his railroad career in 1905 as a trackman in Cumberland. Early in 1912, he transferred to the C. T. Department and worked as a brakeman between Cumberland and Brunswick.

In 1913, he went into the Car Department as a carman helper and in a few months was promoted to carman and later to car inspector. A native of Paw Paw, he is a son of the late John T. Zollner, who was a brakeman for the B&O Railroad.

Zollner married Clara E. Kaylor in 1915 and they have two sons, Grant E., a car inspector, and Verment G., Zollner, a carman both with the B&O on the Cumberland Division.

Last November 18 the fortieth wedding anniversary of the Zollners was observed.

Zollner said he has no definite plans except to do a little gardening. His wife has been in ill health the past two years.

Local Student Is In Penn State Who's Who

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. — Nearly 400 of Pennsylvania State University's 1955-56 student body have been selected for the publication, "Who's Who In The News at Penn State."

Among those listed in the book is Barbara A. Nicholls, a Junior, majoring in journalism, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Nicholls, MacDonald Terrace, Cumberland, Md.

Students who have been leaders in campus activities are selected by a special committee for listing in the publication, which was started at Penn State ten years ago.

Ambulance Service Termed Successful

Cumberland's new ambulance service is proving to be a success.

Two weeks ago the Astor Cab Company took over ambulance service in Cumberland with the approval of funeral directors who handled the service here for years.

"We are very pleased with the results up to this time," Fred W. Jenkins, manager of the company, announces.

Jenkins said that the company has handled only one accident case, that being last Monday when Frank Wilson, B&O yard conductor, was killed while working on the railroad at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

Jenkins said approximately ten emergency case calls have been received, and that most of the calls have been during the day time.

The longest distance an ambulance has traveled was last Sunday when a driver was dispatched to Philadelphia to bring a sick woman here.

Since Astor has taken over the service there has been only one other time that two ambulances have been in use at one time.

Jenkins said one of the reasons the system is working so well is because one driver is stationed at the company's office at all times.

Two men are employed as full-time

ambulance drivers, and both are qualified to handle the work. former ambulance drivers, Jenkins said that both vehicles are equipped with two-way radios

The service has two ambulances which keep them in constant contact with the dispatcher of the Astor Cab Company. available, one a new model and the other a 1953 model, with 15 men for Cab Company.

What you should know about insuring your home

If you own your home, the new "package policies" can give you more coverage at less cost...

What if you had to buy your house room by room? The kitchen from one real estate man, the living room from another, the bedroom from a third... What a waste of time! And you would certainly pay a lot more, too.

Yet most home insurance is bought just that way—piece by piece. Fire insurance from one company, a burglary policy from another, a liability policy, from a third.

The result of this "do-it-yourself" protection is that you may or may not have the right kinds of coverage... your coverages may be duplicated... and you've no doubt paid more than you should.

Fortunately, all this is on the way out. In most states today, the many coverages you need to protect your home have been combined into a single "package" policy.

This new development in home insurance gives you more protection in just one policy... it will probably cost you much less than you're now paying... and it will assure you better service through dealing with a single agent from one company.

WHAT PROTECTION YOU SHOULD HAVE:

As a homeowner, you should have adequate insurance protection in these four general areas:

1. PROTECTION FOR YOUR HOUSE

Your basic coverage should be against fire and lightning damage, including coverage for extra living costs while your home is uninhabitable after a fire... plus extended coverage against damage by windstorm, hail, explosion, smoke, riot, aircraft and other-peoples' vehicles.

Your home should also be protected by additional extended coverage against damage by vandalism, your vehicles, water escape, heating system rupture, falling trees, collapse, glass breakage and landslide. Available also are all risk policies, which cover you against every kind of physical damage to your property except for a few exclusions such as war, flood and termites.

2. PROTECTION FOR YOUR OTHER BUILDINGS

If you own a garage, tool shed or other such buildings, these should be protected, too. The way it works, 10% of the fire and lightning coverage on your house is applied automatically as additional insurance to other-building losses.

This 10% coverage applies to any extra coverage on your house—extended coverage, additional extended coverage, etc. If you want more protection it can be purchased separately.

3. PROTECTION FOR YOUR PERSONAL PROPERTY

You should also insure the contents of your home against loss or damage by fire and lightning. And it's usually a good idea to protect your personal property while it is off your premises.

For other hazards to your personal property, you should have theft and burglary insurance. From 30 to 50% of your personal property's total value should be covered. Standard theft and burglary covers personal property only while it is on your premises. An extra coverage against off-premises theft can be added for an additional premium.

4. PROTECTION AGAINST LEGAL LIABILITY

A costly lawsuit could hurt you more than the worst fire. That's why home insurance should not end with property protection. If your dog bites a passerby, or a salesman slips on your walk, you may be legally liable.

You should therefore have personal liability protection which pays damages resulting from injuries to people or property for which you or any member of your family are responsible. This coverage usually includes a medical payments feature for injuries to others whether or not you are legally liable.

HOW MANY POLICIES FOR ONE HOME?

Normally, four policies could do the job for you. But this means separate rates... and separate records... and perhaps the problems of dealing with a separate company and agent for each policy.

So, the insurance industry has come up with the answer: all-in-one policies, often referred to as...

"PACKAGE" PROTECTION

This is a single insurance policy which includes all the protection the average homeowner needs. "Package" protection ends helter-skelter insurance buying... it provides fuller coverage in one policy with one premium... and it costs much less than buying each coverage separately.

NATIONWIDE'S HOMEOWNER'S MULTI-PROTECTION POLICY

In this state, Nationwide Insurance offers you just this kind of "package" protection for your home. Our completely new HOMEOWNER'S MULTI-PROTECTION policy includes all the coverages you probably need.

With this unique policy, just one premium pays for all your coverages for three full years.

And you'll be dealing with just one company, through your neighborhood Nationwide representative—a skilled insurance advisor, expertly trained in more than 100 types of insurance, including every last detail of insurance for your home.

And the cost? You'll save up to 33% over the cost of buying each of these coverages separately.

If trouble comes, you can depend on Nationwide's modern, reliable claim service. Just one person to call no matter what the trouble. Damages are evaluated in a fair and friendly way, and your check is delivered to you promptly.

Now, for less money, you can protect your most expensive possession—your home—with one of the broadest home insurance policies available anywhere. For all the facts on the HOMEOWNER'S MULTI-PROTECTION policy, contact the Nationwide office nearest you, listed below.

"IN SERVICE WITH PEOPLE"

These four words—Nationwide's slogan—mean we are a "different" insurance company. We believe that people can help themselves by working together... that our policyholders should have a voice in the management of their companies... and that policyholders' money should be invested in activities which serve them better.

Because we believe these things, we give our policyholders a chance to speak up and be heard through their POLICYHOLDER ADVISORY COMMITTEES. In our more than 300 sales districts, representative policyholders elect delegates to regional committees, which then elect a company-wide Advisory Committee, which meets annually in Columbus.

Here our policyholders tell us what their needs are, and suggest ways of filling those needs. Many tangible products and services have resulted from these meetings. Our new BRIDAL POLICY, for example, to pay wedding expenses... our new AUTO-GRAPHIC policy which makes it easy for you to read and understand your auto insurance. At these meetings, the HOMEOWNER'S MULTI-PROTECTION policy was approved enthusiastically... and requests were made for more "packages" of this type.

If you'd like to know more about Nationwide's Policyholder Advisory Committees, or if you'd like to attend one of the meetings—whether or not you are one of our 2,000,000 policyholders—a free pamphlet is yours for the asking. Just drop a card to:

The second session of the Girl Scout basic troop leadership course will be held tonight at 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock at the Girl Scout House, Miss Olive Hurlburt, scout executive and a member of the troop training committee will be in charge.

The subject of tonight's second session in the 16-hour required course for troop leaders, will cover "Program Planning and Troop Government." A practice session in the flag ceremony will also be featured.

Miss Hurlburt said there are 16 member leaders of Brownie, Intermediate and Senior scout troops, to cover the course, and any leaders who did not enroll at the first session last week may do so by contacting the Scout House today.

Training in all phases of adult work with scouts, according to Miss Hurlburt is a Scout requisite, and training is provided these adults, to cover the job assigned to them. All leaders must complete the basic 16-hour course, held in eight sessions of two hours duration, in their first year of active work with scouts and scout troops. Seven of the sessions are held indoors and one is held out of doors.

"Dragnet" Helps Police Return Lost Handbag

You might say that Jack Webb, star of the television program, "Dragnet," was partially responsible in locating the owner of a light tan handbag found on one of the seats at a local theater yesterday afternoon and turned over to city police.

While looking through the handbag, police found a wallet which contained a number of photographs and an identification card noting the girl was a Dragnet Junior Deputy. Information on the card gave the girl's name, address, age, height, color of eyes and also her phone number.

Within minutes after the handbag was taken to headquarters the owner was notified, thanks to the aid of Jack Webb.

Police Probe Thefts Of Money, Soft Drinks

City Police are checking two reports of thefts of money and soft drinks in separate breakings and enterings in the past several days.

The J. H. Holzshu Company, South Centre Street, reported a rear window of their office was forced open, a screen removed and the office desks ransacked. At least $12 in cash and an unsigned check for $200, as well as important papers are missing, authorities were told.

A soft drink vending machine at the Kelly Boulevard Apartments was broken into and an undetermined amount of nickels taken. Several bottles also were opened and the contents removed by the culprits.

West Virginia Crash Claims Fourth Life

ELKINS, W. Va., Feb. 13 (AP)—A weekend highway accident in Randolph County claimed its fourth life today when 21-year-old Mervyn J. Lantz of Harman died in an Elkins hospital.

Also killed in the head-on collision on U.S. Route 33 east of Harman were Mrs. Philena Lou Carmen, 29, of Philippi; her 4-year-old son, Albert G. Carmen III, and Harold G. Bennett, 26, of Harman.

Tydings To Run

(Continued from Page 16) Democratic State Central Committee, said the committee has no plans for meeting to discuss the Tydings movement. He said he had heard no mention of interest in changing the endorsement of Mahoney.

Neither has there been a stampede to the Tydings camp in his home county, Harford. Mayor John Wilkinson of Bel Air said, "I was Mahoney's campaign manager here in the county the last time he ran. I have already said I would serve again. I intend to stick by Mahoney."

Former State's Atty. Robert Archer said, "Tydings and I fell out sometime ago. I wouldn't support Tydings. I signed Mahoney's petition and I intend to support him."

Roy Pyle of Stepeny, near Aberdeen, a retired businessman who has held minor county offices and was an unsuccessful candidate for the House of Delegates in 1954, also expressed opposition to the former senator. In fact, he said, "the minute Tydings files for the nomination, I will file too."

Keeping Up With Hollywood by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 13 (INS)—Two weeks after Marilyn Monroe gets here on March 1, she'll leave with the 20th Century-Fox company for Arizona for "Bus Stop."

They then go on to Salido, Colorado, for another week or ten days. The rest of "Bus Stop" will be filmed in Hollywood.

One of the top roles, that of Virgil, the older cowboy, goes to Arthur O'Connell. Buddy Adler has the contract all ready for him to sign. The young love interest, Bo, has not yet been chosen.

I wish Josh Logan and Buddy would hurry and make up their minds because I am deluged with letters from young actors who want to play opposite Marilyn.

At a recent meeting in Memphis, Tennessee, 50 townspeople and a group of ministers decided that the final censors should be the citizens themselves.

For years, Memphis was arbitrarily ruled censorwise by Claude Binford, who made the most surprising decisions. He was boss of the censor board and had complete say so. Some of his censorial rulings were thought to be his personal feelings.

A Jewish rabbi, a Methodist pastor, a Baptist minister voted against the system of a five-member censorship board, and without exception said that the people in Memphis and the film companies themselves were well qualified to censor motion pictures.

I was curious about Frank Sinatra's status at 20th Century-Fox, since a lawsuit was filed against him when he failed to appear in "Carrousel" as per contract.

The suit is still pending, and the solution for Frank to make a picture for 20th is out because he is going to Spain for seven or eight months to make another picture.

I'm told that 20th would like to get Cary Grant for "Solo," the picture which was rumored for Frank but which he won't make because he won't be here.

If Columbia is smart enough to follow up "The Harder They Fall" with another top picture for young Mike Lane, they'll have a real discovery.

This handsome young giant (he's actually six feet seven inches tall and carries 300 pounds of solid muscle on his athletic frame!) never faced a camera before he went into the central role of this devastating expose of the fight racket.

This powerful film, which co-stars Humphrey Bogart and Rod Steiger, will undoubtedly score a knock-out against the underworld activities behind the fight game. Again let me say, Mike Lane's effective performance will bear watching.

So blonde is Linda Christian that I didn't recognize her at the Kirk Douglas party. She told me she went blonde for "Thunderstorm," the recent picture she made in Spain and that she likes herself so well with her light tresses that she won't go back to being a brunette. She was not with Edmund Purdom and from the way she talked I'm sure it's all over. She says they are very good friends and see each other occasionally but it's all over. She tried to tell me there

Scout Leaders Training Class Meets Tonight

The second session of the Girl Scout basic troop leadership course will be held tonight at 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock at the Girl Scout House, Miss Olive Hurlburt, scout executive and a member of the troop training committee will be in charge.

The subject of tonight's second session in the 16-hour required course for troop leaders, will cover "Program Planning and Troop Government." A practice session in the flag ceremony will also be featured.

Miss Hurlburt said there are 16 member leaders of Brownie, Intermediate and Senior scout troops taking the course, and any leaders who did not enroll at the first session last week may do so by contacting the Scout House today.

Training in all phases of adult work with scouts, according to Miss Hurlburt is a Scout requisite, and training is provided these adults, to cover the job assigned to them. All leaders must complete the basic 16-hour course, held in eight sessions of two hours duration, in their first year of active work with scouts and scout troops. Seven of the sessions are held indoors and one is held out of doors.

AFL Meeting Set

The Allegany Trades Council will meet today at 7:30 p. m. in the AFL Labor Temple.

Twins occur approximately once in every 92 births. Triplets occur once in every 9,600 births.

"Dragnet" Helps Police Return Lost Handbag

You might say that Jack Webb, star of the television program, "Dragnet," was partially responsible in locating the owner of a light tan handbag found on one of the seats at a local theater yesterday afternoon and turned over to city police.

While looking through the handbag, police found a wallet which contained a number of photographs and an identification card noting the girl was a Dragnet Junior Deputy. Information on the card gave the girl's name, address, age, height, color of eyes and also her phone number.

Within minutes after the handbag was taken to headquarters the owner was notified, thanks to the aid of Jack Webb.

Police Probe Thefts Of Money, Soft Drinks

City Police are checking two reports of thefts of money and soft drinks in separate breakings and enterings in the past several days.

The J. H. Holzshu Company, South Centre Street, reported a rear window of their office was forced open, a screen removed and the office desks ransacked. At least $12 in cash and an unsigned check for $200, as well as important papers are missing, authorities were told.

A soft drink vending machine at the Kelly Boulevard Apartments was broken into and an undetermined amount of nickels taken. Several bottles also were opened and the contents removed by the culprits.

Sports Car Group Meets Thursday For Decisions

The sports car races committee of the Cumberland Lions Club will hold an important meeting Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the Central YMCA.

A tentative date of May 20 has been selected for the event, held at the Cumberland Municipal Airport annually, and the committee is scheduled to make decisions on the date and other important details of the program.

Members of the committee are Winfield Adam, William Barger, Merrill Barnes, William Carscaden, George Connor, Glenn Davis, William George, Bert Graham, William Harrison, Clement May, Robert Moore, Woodward Pealer, Ernest Treat and Albert Windish. The Lions Club also has scheduled Dr. David Miller to speak on "Sight Conservation" at the club's weekly luncheon meeting at the YMCA Wednesday at 12:15 p. m.

Proceeds of the sports car races go toward the club's sight conservation fund.

West Virginia Crash Claims Fourth Life

ELKINS, W. Va., Feb. 13 (AP)—A weekend highway accident in Randolph County claimed its fourth life today when 21-year-old Mervyn J. Lantz of Harman died in an Elkins hospital.

Also killed in the head-on collision on U.S. Route 33 east of Harman were Mrs. Philena Lou Carman, 29, of Philippi; her 4-year-old son, Albert G. Carman III, and Harold G. Bennett, 26, of Harman.

Tydings To Run

(Continued from Page 16) Democratic State Committee, said the committee has no plans for meeting to discuss the Tydings movement. He said he had heard no mention of interest in changing the endorsement of Mahoney.

Neither has there been a stampede to the Tydings camp in his home county, Harford. Mayor John Wilkinson of Bel Air said, "I was Mahoney's campaign manager here in the county the last time he ran. I have already said I would serve again. I intend to stick by Mahoney."

Former State's Atty. Robert Archer said, "Tydings and I fell out sometime ago. I wouldn't support Tydings. I signed Mahoney's petition and I intend to support him."

Roy Pyle of Stepeny, near Aberdeen, a retired businessman who has held minor county offices and was an unsuccessful candidate for the House of Delegates in 1954, also expressed opposition to the former senator. In fact, he said, "the minute Tydings files for the nomination, I will file too."

Keeping Up With Hollywood by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 13 (INS)—Two weeks after Marilyn Monroe gets here on March 1, she'll leave with the 20th Century-Fox company for Arizona for "Bus Stop."

They then go on to Salida, Colorado, for another week or ten days. The rest of "Bus Stop" will be filmed in Hollywood.

One of the top roles, that of Virgil, the older cowboy, goes to Arthur O'Connell. Buddy Adler has the contract all ready for him to sign. The young love interest, Bo, has not yet been chosen.

I wish Josh Logan and Buddy would hurry and make up their minds because I am deluged with letters from young actors who want to play opposite Marilyn.

At a recent meeting in Memphis, Tennessee, 50 townspeople and a group of ministers decided that the final censors should be the citizens themselves.

For years, Memphis was arbitrarily ruled censorwise by Claude Binford, who made the most surprising decisions. He was boss of the censor board and had complete say so. Some of his censorial rulings were thought to be his personal feelings.

A Jewish rabbi, a Methodist pastor, a Baptist minister voted against the system of a five member censorship board, and without exception said that the people in Memphis and the film companies themselves were well qualified to censor motion pictures.

I was curious about Frank Sinatra's status at 20th Century-Fox, since a lawsuit was filed against him when he failed to appear in "Carrousel" as per contract.

The suit is still pending, and the solution for Frank to make a picture for 20th is out because he is going to Spain for seven or eight months to make another picture.

I'm told that 20th would like to get Cary Grant for "Solo," the picture which was rumored for Frank but which he won't make because he won't be here.

had never been a romance and believe it or not I said nary a word.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The braid of hair entwined with pearls hanging down her back could only be becoming to Marisa Pavan. She and Jean Pierre Aumont were again at Ciro's.

The Andrews sisters, Patti, Laverne and Maxine, will sing together for the first time in almost three years on February 16 when they appear on the "Shower of Stars."

A big surprise when Spencer Tracy showed up at Paramount to hear the scoring of his picture.

This handsome young giant (he's actually six feet seven inches tall and carries 300 pounds of solid muscle on his athletic frame) never faced a camera before he went into the central role of this devastating expose of the fight racket.

This powerful film, which co-stars Humphrey Bogart and Rod Steiger, will undoubtedly score a knock-out against the underworld activities behind the fight game. Again let me say, Mike Lane's effective performance will bear watching.

So blonde is Linda Christian that I don't recognize her at the Kirk Douglas party. She told me she went blonde for "Thunderstorm," the recent picture she made in Spain and that she likes herself so well with her light tresses that she won't go back to being a brunette.

She was not with Edmund Purdom and from the way she talked I'm sure it's all over. She says they are very good friends and see each other occasionally but it's all over. She tried to tell me there

Read Explanation Below

Before you try solving Puzzles 1, 2 and 3 above, let's get the idea by solving this Sample Puzzle together:

Note, first of all, the various letters and objects pictured, and the plus and minus signs: C plus OWL plus EYE plus TANK. Add 'em together and we've got COWLEYETANK... after which we see minus TOWEL minus CAN... which means that from COWLEYETANK we take away the letters TOWELCAN, leaving only the letters YEK.

So we now scan the list of names under the puzzle and sure enough, there we see the last name of Francis Scott KEY, and we note that by rearranging the letters YEK into KEY, we have KEY as the correct solution to this puzzle.

Now, see how well you can do by yourself with Puzzle 1, 2 and 3 above... and then send in your answers on the coupon that appears at left, so that we can send you Free details on how you can enter the Opportunity Puzzle Contest.

This SAMPLE PUZZLE Will Give You the Idea!

Read Explanation Below

Before you try solving Puzzles 1, 2 and 3 above, let's get the idea by solving this Sample Puzzle together:
 Note, first of all, the various letters and objects pictured, and the plus and minus signs: C plus OWL plus EYE plus TANK. Add 'em together and we've got COWLEYETANK... after which we see minus TOWEL minus CAN... which means that from COWLEYETANK we take away the letters TOWELCAN, leaving only the letters YEK.

So we now scan the list of names under the puzzle and sure enough, there we see the last name of Francis Scott KEY, and we note that by rearranging the letters YEK into KEY, we have KEY as the correct solution to this puzzle.

THE SOLUTION IS ONE OF THE LAST NAMES BELOW:
 Edward W. BOK Peter PAN Franz ABT
 Robert E. LEE Francis Scott KEY Edgar Allan POE

Eavesdropping Due For Restrictions

Lots of mechanical eavesdropping can't be described exactly as wiretapping. That is, new electronic devices make it possible to listen in on, even to record, a conversation surreptitiously without actually putting a tap on a wire.

A legislative committee in New York has been studying the problem, and now the legislature has before it a series of bills embodying the committee recommendations. The bills would apply specifically to surreptitious private eavesdropping the general ban said to exist against it in the old common law.

"Surreptitious" because either party in a telephone conversation could still legally have it recorded without knowledge of the other. "Private" because it would still be legal for law enforcement officials to tap wires under restrictions provided by New York law, though those restrictions would now be tightened.

The Federal Communications Act of 1934 makes it illegal to intercept any communication without authority of the sender and (not "or") divulge its contents. Federal courts interpret the provision as forbidding, not wiretapping by federal agents—generally admitted to be not uncommon—but the use in federal courts of evidence thus obtained.

Almost all the states have laws against wiretapping, but these laws vary widely. Some authorize wiretapping only by law officials, and then only on court order; some forbid, some don't forbid, the use of wiretap evidence in court proceedings; some only penalize physical damage to communication wires; and what others provide or don't provide is so ambiguous that little or no attempt is made to enforce them.

These Days

The Little Wars

The great powers can prevent World War III but they can do practically nothing about the little wars because they do not know how to spank the little nations. In the old days, that is, before World War I, all problems could be solved by the British Navy or by the American Marines or by some such force which went into a country and literally made it behave. That was called "The White Man's Burden" in those days; now, it is called colonialism. It had the effect of neutralizing the weak and backward nations by making them dependent upon the great and powerful nations. For such dependence the big nations always charged a fee.

For instance, the British ran the Customs Service and the Salt Gabelle for China. The Chinese did not like that because it deprived China of sovereign rights, but the Chinese treasury got the money and was able to meet its obligations. The British did well by themselves, too. So did everybody else. Since China has been engaged in little wars, nobody has been doing well, and shockingly enough, China has been entrapped with a new kind of colonialism under the aegis of Soviet Russia.

The same thing is true in the Middle East where the various Arab countries did pretty well when they were run by Turkey. Then, after World War I, the British were in a managerial position in most of those countries, with the French trying to manage Syria. Then these countries got completely on their own and became involved in little wars. The little wars are all over little issues which could be settled if any of these countries really wanted to settle them—water rights, refugees, etc. Most of these problems could be settled by money payments. But nationalism requires little wars to stir the morale of the people. So the little wars continue.

The great liberal minds that dominate the world today are sure that they can always solve great problems by doctrinaire repetitions of fixed ideas. For instance, while they advocate a limited sovereignty for the United States, they stimulate nationalism among the weak and backward nations. They are not conscious of their paradox, for that would require a sense of humor. So they belabor the American conservative who says that he is not opposed to France holding Algeria or Portugal holding Goa. They regard anyone who thinks that way as a deadly reactionary, but they do not get excited about the Russians holding Turkestan or the little wars made by the Pathans or the utter waste of life in the whole series of wars in Asia and Africa since 1945.

None of the little wars solve anything. Before I went on this adventurous experience in the hospital, I was asked to make a selection of my writings since 1935. So I went into the scrapbooks to see what a fellow could have done over a period of 20 years. Some of the pieces were quite interesting, but what impressed me most was that since 1938, the world has been dealing with the same problems. Millions have been killed; a civilization that stood for nearly 2,000 years has been challenged; standards of taste and conduct have altered altogether—but no basic political, geographical, economic or philosophic problem has been solved.

I read somewhere that a great revolution had taken place in the United States between 1934 and 1954. I think it was Harry Truman who wrote that. To some extent Harry Truman is correct; a populist program was adopted to meet the depression and prolonged itself on account of the conditions of great and little wars. This populist program, however, did not accomplish in this country much of a revolution except that it weakened the middle class, including the white collar workers and government employees. The rich became richer and the proletariat moved into what used to be called the middle class, but that was no shucks of a revolution and would probably have happened anyhow as a result of our great emphasis on a high standard of living.

The really great revolution of these times is the revival of nationalism, which is the main cause of the little wars and nationalism will continue to grow stronger in every country because it represents a trend that in most countries makes sense. But we still have no solution for the problem of stopping the little wars.

Succession To Presidency Laws Need Clarifying

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The laws with respect to presidential succession are in a mess.

There's no law advising the nation how to deal with the duties of the presidential office when there is an "inability" to serve, as the word is used in the Constitution.

There's no law that enables the party elected at the previous election to maintain control of the White House if a vice president dies after succeeding to the presidency.

There's no law which would permit, in an emergency, a presidential candidate elected in November to take over immediately even though the outgoing president was ready to resign and make the transfer without waiting for the two and a half months' interval to elapse before the formal inauguration. It used to be four months.

Celler Making Study
The Judiciary Committee of the House, under the chairmanship of Representative Emmanuel Celler of New York, Democrat, has been conducting a study of what to do in the case of presidential "inability" and has published a lengthy document reciting the views of various students of government and constitutional experts.

The net of it all is that the Congress has the power under the Constitution to pass a law saying when the vice president shall take over in the case of "resignation" or "inability" and whether he shall give the office back to the President upon his recovery from "inability."

A most significant point is that Congress does have the power to remove a president if "inability" occurs—and this word in the Constitution is not qualified by the word "physical." The argument could be made that "inability" means inefficiency, too, which would introduce something akin to the parliamentary system, especially if the Supreme Court—which doesn't hesitate to legislate nowadays—should some day broadly interpret the word "inability."

Peron can avoid all this by not going back to the Argentine. But he seems to be a tender-hearted dictator who thinks two heads are better than one. Or a million.

The Argentinians who own those irreplaceable nogginns may not want to use up their futures in one nod. After all the book says a head is a button that keeps your spine from raveling.

It's up in the United Nations next week. Suggestions that Peron stays where he is. And the million heads where they are.

The present law of succession provides that, after the vice president, the speaker of the House and then the president pro tem of the Senate shall succeed to the presidency. But today the speaker of the House is a Democrat, and it could conceivably happen again that the speaker of the House isn't of the same party as won the previous presidential election. The Republican Congress enacted this law in 1947 when they repealed the old succession law that allowed the secretary of state and, consecutively, the other members of the cabinet to succeed to the presidency in the order of rank.

Wilson's Views Interesting

It is interesting to re-read what President Woodrow Wilson wrote confidentially to his secretary of state during World War I just before the election in which Charles Evans Hughes had resigned from the Supreme Court to be the opposing candidate. Mr. Wilson wrote on November 5, 1916:

"Again and again the question

has arisen in my mind: what would it be my duty to do were Mr. Hughes to be elected? Four months would elapse before he could take charge of the affairs of the government, and during those four months I would be without such moral backing from the nation as would be necessary to steady and control our relations with other governments. I would be known to be the rejected, not the accredited, spokesman of the country; and yet the accredited spokesman would be without legal authority to speak for the nation. Such a situation would be fraught with the gravest dangers. The direction of the foreign policy of the government would in effect have been taken out of my hands and yet its new definition would be impossible until March.

"I feel that it would be my duty to relieve the country of the perils of such a situation at once. The course I have in mind is cooperation upon the consent and cooperation of the vice president; but, if I could gain his consent to the plan,

Only one question was asked when Peron announced the retaliatory schedule for his cranial bowling tournament. Who gets the hats?

It's going to be terrible, says Peron, using the walrus's recipe for oyster sauce of his own tears. He's going to show those people where to head in.

Vitamin B12 Key Substance In Pernicious Anemia

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deifen

Vitamin B12 is the key substance in pernicious anemia. This chemical is responsible for initiating the machinery that makes blood cells grow to maturity. When this process fails, the number of red blood corpuscles is reduced and anemia ensues.

The stomach juices of the patient with pernicious anemia cannot extract vitamin B12 from food. Proteins such as liver and meats are rich in this vitamin but are of little help because the chemical is not extracted by the stomach. The same applies to tablets or capsules of vitamin B12 that are swallowed.

Injecting liver or vitamin B12 into the skin or muscle causes dramatic improvement, however. The substance is picked up by the blood and taken to the liver immediately where it is processed for blood building purposes. The victim feels better within 48 hours and looks like a different person within a week.

Smaller amounts of vitamin B12

can be encouraged to pass through the stomach wall by mixing it with the gastric juices of a healthy individual or with ground up extracts of hog stomach. Products of this nature are available but are less efficient than hypodermic injections, which insure up to 100 per cent absorption.

A new foolproof radioisotope test has been devised that simplifies diagnosis. It centers about the fact that almost everyone except pernicious anemia sufferers absorbs vitamin B12 when taken by mouth. An infinitesimal oral dose of radioactive vitamin B12 is administered and several hours later, studies are made with the geiger counter on the stools and urine or on the skin over the liver.

The normal person absorbs more than 40 per cent of the radioactive vitamin; most of it settles in the liver and little is found in the stools. Pernicious anemia patients absorb less than 20 per cent; consequently most of the vitamin passes through the intestinal tract and is eliminated in the stools.

This test is available at large medical centers where radio-active materials are at hand. It is particularly useful in studying borderline cases.

A problem is presented occasionally in those who have received treatment because injections of liver or vitamin B12 alter the blood. This new test bypasses the blood and is not affected, therefore by therapy.

Pressure On Ike To Seek Another Term Comes From Three Groups

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The pressure on President Eisenhower, as he takes his final medical, is still continuing. The pressure to run comes from three general groups:

1. The Palace Guard—The boys in the White House who want to keep their jobs. They are just as ardent as the Democrats who worked under Roosevelt and Truman and who were determined that their boss must run again.

2. The Big Politicians — GOP leaders on Capitol Hill like Joe Martin plus GOP Chairman Len Hall don't see any way the party can do without Ike, and they demand that he run.

3. The Business Brain-Trusters—Up in New York men like Gen. Lucius Clay, former commander of American troops in Germany; Sidney Weinberg, head of the giant Wall Street firm Goldman-Sachs; and ex-Governor Tom Dewey, believe Ike is essential to save the peace and our economic way of life — plus their point of view regarding American business.

There have been sobering thoughts, however, since ex-Governor Oswald West of Oregon accused other Republicans of murdering Governor Paul Patterson of Oregon.

"The death of Paul Patterson was not only a tragedy," said ex-Governor West, himself a Republican. "It was murder. He was forced into a Senate race by selfish members of the Republican party imbued with an obsession to beat Wayne Morse."

NOTE—Governor Patterson had a heart condition. After deciding to take on the campaign against Wayne Morse he had a heart attack. Ike thanks to outside pressure, had urged him to run. Ike Fell In Trap

There was a good reason why Eisenhower held up his second reply to Premier Bulganin on a U.S.-Soviet friendship pact after firing the first reply back in Bulganin's teeth. He found he had fallen into a Soviet trap.

John Foster Dulles, as usual, had acted without consulting his advisers, especially astute U. S. Ambassador Chip Bohlen in Moscow. Instead, Foster acted as if Joe McCarthy was gloowering over his shoulder.

The trap Eisenhower fell into was that the Kremlin wants more than anything else to show us up as not wanting peace.

Most important popular development in Russia today, Ambassador Bohlen has advised, is that the Russian people have come to believe the Kremlin's peace propaganda. As a result, today they could not easily be stamped into war.

In the past, the Kremlin has had the whip-hand in starting war. It has no Congress to consult, no critical newspapers to worry about, or commentators to goad it. War could have been declared in the past at the drop of a hat.

But since the Kremlin's peace propaganda has taken hold, sudden action would be difficult.

This was the reason for Bulganin's two friendship notes, namely, to trap the United States into rebuffing Russian friendship so the Kremlin can reverse itself and point out that the U.S. has spurned Russian friendship, that the U.S. wants war.

This is why our allies, plus skilled U. S. diplomats, wish Eisenhower had not been so hasty in slapping down the first Bulganin note. If he had waited a day or two to consult with Prime Minister Eden, he could have let Eden share responsibility for his slap-down. Or he could have waited longer to appear to give the matter more careful study.

That was why he waited longer to answer the second Bulganin note which the Kremlin, having scored in the first round for peace propaganda, fired back at Ike so quickly.

Ike's Success At Geneva

One of the most effective things Eisenhower did at Geneva, in the opinion of this observer, who was there, was to convince the people of France, Italy, Germany, Greece, et al. that the United States genuinely wants peace. Eisenhower played his cards perfectly, cut the ground out from under Moscow's continual claim that the U.S. wants war.

But today as a result of Bulganin's fast foot-work and the Dulles-Eisenhower eager-beaver rush into his trap, part of Ike's fine work at Geneva has been neutralized.

What Ike and Dulles did on the first note was to operate U.S. foreign policy as if Joe McCarthy was still gloowering over their shoulders. When the second note arrived, they finally realized that Joe's gloomers are now feeble and faded, and that they had fallen into a neat Russian trap.

Washington Pipeline

Queen Elizabeth probably will visit the United States sometime next winter. There have been preliminary soundings between London and the State Department.

The reason Harry Truman has turned down offers to cover the two national conventions for big newspaper syndicates is that he couldn't work backstage as a news-hawk and remain on a confidential basis. "I couldn't do what I hope to do and at the same time write about it," he confided to a friend.

Senator Lyndon Johnson says: "My doctor wants me to get off the digitalis." He's going back to Texas for a rest. . . . Unfortunately, that is after returning for the opening of Congress in January.

Lyndon spent about two weeks in Florida and Cuba, now is going back to Texas for another two weeks. And Lyndon is almost 20 years younger than Eisenhower. . . . The appointment of ex-Congressman O. K. Armstrong of Missouri as a commissioner to investigate the morals of Indians, shows how slipshod Doug McKay is in running the Interior Department. He didn't know that Armstrong had been convicted of income tax evasion. McKay fired the alert, career public servants from the Interior Department, so has no one left to protect him. . . .

Under the old curmudgeon, Harold Ickes, and his protegee, Oscar Chapman, the Interior Department had developed the best head-eyed protectors of the national domain I have ever seen in Washington. But they've been scattered to the four winds.

Topic A: Ike's Decision

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON
There is, of course, only one topic of conversation in Washington these days—the great personal-political drama of the President's decision.

The following quotations from many persons with access to the President, or access to the facts on which he will base his decision, are as nearly accurate as memory will permit. They may serve to convey something of the flavor of the drama, and something as well of the background of the President's decision.

Truman's Speech Hurt

"Talk about it? Of course he talks about it. He talks about it all the time, just like anybody in his situation would. He's very frank about his health for instance, just the way he is at the press conferences, but he goes a little further maybe. He's been having a little bursitis in the elbow again, and of course he worries, just like any coronary would, whether it has anything to do with his heart. If he wakes up in the morning feeling a little lousy, he worries too. Don't get me wrong—Ike's not worrying about himself, but about the effects on the country. But if the doctors don't say no, I think he'll run."

"Three to two? Why I'll give you five to one he'll run—but maybe that's not fair, because I know something I can't tell you."

"Well, he talks in private very much the way he does in public, except for one thing. He puts a lot of emphasis on what he calls the negative factors, just the way he does at the press conferences. But Ike's a modest man, and he could never bring himself to say that the Eisenhower program will probably go down the drain if he steps out, or that his prestige and world position are important to peace. But he can indicate these positive factors much more when he's talking to friends than in public press conferences."

Won't Drop Nixon

"Yes, he's going to run—definitely. I got it from a friend of mine who knows a general who sat next to Mamie's sister or mother or something a party."

"Ike said he was going to consult his friends and advisers, and that's just what he's doing. Now you name me one who will advise him not to run—Adams? Shanley? Persons? Gruenther? Clay? Robinson? Hall? Allen? Go ahead, name just one."

The net of it all is that the Congress has the power under the Constitution to pass a law saying when the vice president shall take over in the case of "resignation" or "inability" and whether he shall give the office back to the President upon his recovery from "inability."

A most significant point is that Congress does have the power to remove a president if inability" occurs—and this word in the Constitution is not qualified by the word "physical." The argument could be made that "inability" means inefficiency, too, which would introduce something akin to the parliamentary system, especially if the Supreme Court—which doesn't hesitate to legislate nowadays—should some day broadly interpret the word "inability."

The net of it all is that the Congress has the power under the Constitution to pass a law saying when the vice president shall take over in the case of "resignation" or "inability" and whether he shall give the office back to the President upon his recovery from "inability."

Try And Stop Me!

Two of the writers who provide Steve Allen with much of his droll TV patter are girls—mere babes—of 21—named Carol Honig and Louise Balk. They got on the Allen payroll by selling him so much special material, he decided it would be cheaper to hire them permanently—or until they get married, at any rate.

The kind of material the Misses Honig and Balk provide for Mr. Allen is this parody of an army sergeant's recruiting pitch: "Men, are you tired of being a weak, pale, droopy civilian? Join the army! There's only one like it in the whole U.S.A. Avoid substitute armies. You can tell the genuine article by the uniform."

That kind of thing sounds easy to you? Try writing it yourself!

The present law of succession provides that, after the vice president, the speaker of the House and then the president pro tem of the Senate shall succeed to the president. But today the speaker of the House is a Democrat, and it could conceivably happen again that the speaker of the House isn't of the same party as won the previous presidential election. The Republican Congress enacted this law in 1947 when they repealed the old succession law that allowed the secretary of state and, consecutively, the other members of the cabinet to succeed to the presidency in the order of rank.

Wilson's Views Interesting

It is interesting to re-read what President Woodrow Wilson wrote confidentially to his secretary of state during World War I just before the election in which Charles Evans Hughes had resigned from the Supreme Court to be the opposing candidate. Mr. Wilson wrote on November 5, 1916:

"Again and again the question

has arisen in my mind: what would it be my duty to do were Mr. Hughes to be elected? Four months would elapse before he could take charge of the affairs of the government, and during those four months I would be without such moral backing from the nation as would be necessary to steady and control our relations with other governments. I would be known to be the rejected, not the accredited, spokesman of the country; and yet the accredited spokesman would be without legal authority to speak for the nation. Such a situation would be fraught with the gravest dangers. The direction of the foreign policy of the government would in effect have been taken out of my hands and yet its new definition would be impossible until March.

"I feel that it would be my duty to relieve the country of the perils of such a situation at once. The course I have in mind is depending upon the consent and cooperation of the vice president; but, if I could gain his consent to the plan, going back to the Argentine. But he seems to be a tender-hearted dictator who thinks two heads are better than one. Or a million.

The Argentinians who own those irreplaceable noggin's may not want to use up their futures in one nod. After all the book says a head is a button that keeps your spine from rattling.

It's up in the United Nations next week. Suggestions that Peron stays where he is. And the million heads where they are.

Baering Down On The News

That little old abbatoin-in-exile Peron says he will make a million heads roll in the Argentine. Must be after the Jivaro vote.

Only one question was asked when Peron announced the retaliatory schedule for his cranial bowling tournament. Who gets the hats?

It's going to be terrible, says Peron, using the walrus's recipe for oyster sauce of his own tears. He's going to show those people where to head in.

Smaller amounts of vitamin B12

capsules of vitamin B12 that are swallowed.

Injecting liver or vitamin B12 into the skin or muscle causes dramatic improvement, however. The substance is picked up by the blood and taken to the liver immediately where it is processed for blood building purposes. The victim feels better within 48 hours and looks like a different person within a week.

The normal person absorbs more than 40 per cent of the radioactive vitamin; most of it settles in the liver and little is found in the stools. Pernicious anemia patients absorb less than 20 per cent; consequently most of the vitamin passes through the intestinal tract and is eliminated in the stools.

This test is available at large medical centers where radio-active materials are at hand. It is particularly useful in studying borderline cases.

A problem is presented occasionally in those who have received treatment because injections of liver or vitamin B12 alter the blood. This new test by-passes the blood and is not affected, therefore by therapy.

Pressure On Ike To Seek Another Term Comes From Three Groups

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The pressure on President Eisenhower, as he takes his final decision, is still continuing. The pressure to run comes from three general groups:

1. The Palace Guard—The boys in the White House who want to keep their jobs. They are just as ardent as the Democrats who worked under Roosevelt and Truman and who were determined that their boss must run again.

2. The Big Politicos — GOP leaders on Capitol Hill like Joe Martin plus GOP Chairman Len Hall don't see any way the party can do without Ike, and they demand that he run.

3. The Business Brain-Trusters—Up in New York men like Gen. Lucius Clay, former commander of American troops in Germany; Sidney Weinberg, head of the giant Wall Street firm Goldman-Sachs; and ex-Governor Tom Dewey, believe Ike is essential to save the peace and our economic way of life — plus their point of view regarding American business.

There have been sobering thoughts, however, since ex-Governor Oswald West of Oregon accused other Republicans of murdering Governor Paul Patterson of Oregon.

"The death of Paul Patterson was not only a tragedy," said ex-Governor West, himself a Republican. "It was murder. He was forced into a Senate race by selfish members of the Republican party imbued with an obsession to beat Wayne Morse."

NOTE—Governor Patterson had a heart condition. After deciding to take on the campaign against Wayne Morse he had a heart attack. Ike, thanks to outside pressure, had urged him to run.

Ike Fell In Trap
There was a good reason why Eisenhower held up his second reply to Premier Bulganin on a U.S.-Soviet friendship pact after firing the first reply back in Bulganin's teeth. He found he had fallen into a Soviet trap.

John Foster Dulles, as usual, had acted without consulting his advisers, especially astute U. S. Ambassador Chip Bohlen in Moscow. Instead, Foster acted as if Joe McCarthy was glowering over his shoulder.

The trap Eisenhower fell into was that the Kremlin wants more than anything else to show us up as not wanting peace.

Most important popular development in Russia today, Ambassador Bohlen has advised, is that the Russian people have come to believe the Kremlin's peace propaganda. As a result, today they could not easily be stampeded into war.

In the past, the Kremlin has had the whip-hand in starting war. It has no Congress to consult, no critical newspapers to worry about, or commentators to goad it. War could have been declared in the past at the drop of a hat.

But since the Kremlin's peace propaganda has taken hold, sudden action would be difficult.

This was the reason for Bulganin's two friendship notes, namely, to trap the United States into rebuffing Russian friendship so the Kremlin can reverse itself and point out that the U.S. has spurned Russian friendship, that the U.S. wants war.

This is why our allies, plus skilled U. S. diplomats, wish Eisenhower had not been so hasty in slapping down the first Bulganin note. If he had waited a day or two to consult with Prime Minister Eden, he could have let Eden share responsibility for his slap-down. Or he could have waited longer to appear to give the matter more careful study.

That was why he waited longer to answer the second Bulganin note which the Kremlin, having scored in the first round for peace propaganda, fired back at Ike so quickly.

Ike's Success At Geneva
One of the most effective things Eisenhower did at Geneva, in the opinion of this observer, who was there, was to convince the people of France, Italy, Germany, Greece, et al, that the United States genuinely wants peace. Eisenhower played his cards perfectly, cut the ground out from under Moscow's continual claim that the U.S. wants war.

But today as a result of Bulganin's fast foot-work and the Dulles-Eisenhower eager-beaver rush into his trap, part of Ike's fine work at Geneva has been neutralized.

What Ike and Dulles did on the first note was to operate U.S. foreign policy as if Joe McCarthy was still glowering over their shoulders. When the second note arrived they finally realized that Joe's glowers are now feeble and faded, and that they had fallen into a neat Russian trap.

Washington Pipeline

Queen Elizabeth probably will visit the United States sometime next winter. There have been preliminary soundings between London and the State Department. . . . The reason Harry Truman has turned down offers to cover the two national conventions for big newspaper syndicates is that he couldn't work backstage as a news-hawk and remain on a confidential basis. "I couldn't do what I hope to do and at the same time write about it," he confided to a friend. . . . Senator Lyndon Johnson says: "My doctor wants me to get off the digitals." He's going back to Texas for a rest. . . . Unfortunately, it is that after returning for the opening of Congress in January, Lyndon spent about two weeks in Florida and Cuba, now is going back to Texas for another two weeks. And Lyndon is almost 20 years younger than Eisenhower. . . . The appointment of ex-Congressman O. K. Armstrong of Missouri as a commissioner to investigate the morals of Indians, shows how slipshod Doug McKay is in running the Interior Department. He didn't know that Armstrong had been convicted of income tax evasion. McKay fired the alert, career public servants from the Interior Department, so has no one left to protect him. . . . Under the old curmudgeon, Harold Lkes, and his protegee, Oscar Chapman, the Interior Department had developed the best beagle-eyed protectors of the national domain I have ever seen in Washington. But they've been scattered to the four winds.

Topic A: Ike's Decision

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON
There is, of course, only one topic of conversation in Washington these days—the great personal-political drama of the President's decision.

The following quotations from many persons with access to the President, or access to the facts on which he will base his decision, are as nearly accurate as memory will permit. They may serve to convey something of the flavor of the drama, and something as well of the background of the President's decision.

Truman's Speech Hurt

"Talk about it? Of course he talks about it. He talks about it all the time, just like anybody in his situation would. He's very frank about his health for instance, just the way he is at the press conferences, but he goes a little further maybe. He's been having a little burstitis in the elbow again, and of course he worries, just like any coronary would, whether it has anything to do with his heart. If he wakes up in the morning feeling a little lousy, he worries too. Don't get me wrong—Ike's not worrying about himself, but about the effects on the country. But if the doctors don't say no, I think he'll run."

"Three to two? Why I'll give you five to one he'll run—but maybe that's not fair, because I know something I can't tell you."

"Well, he talks in private very much the way he does in public, except for one thing. He puts a lot of emphasis on what he calls the negative factors, just the way he does at the press conferences. But Ike's a modest man, and he could never bring himself to say that the Eisenhower program will probably go down the drain if he steps out, or that his prestige and world position are important to peace. But he can indicate these positive factors much more when he's talking to friends than in public press conferences."

Won't Drop Nixon

"Yes, he's going to run—definitely. I got it from a friend of mine who knows a general who sat next to Mamie's sister or mother or something a part."

"Ike said he was going to consult his friends and advisers, and that's just what he's doing. Now you name me one who will advise him not to run—Adams? Shanley? Persons? Gruenther? Clay? Robinson? Hall? Allen? Go ahead, name just one."

Bruce At Allegany, Valley At Beall Head Cage Card

Lead At Stake In Schoolboy Loops Tonight

Four Top Contests Set For WMI, PVC, Mineral Circuits

Allegany, Beall and Fort Hill will be out to avenge earlier season thumpings when they tackle Bruce, Valley and Mt. Savage tonight as the W.M.I. Basketball League race moves into the final week of the season.

The Campers, leading the pack with a 7-1 record, play Bruce High's Bulldogs at Campobello tonight and Coach Gene Shaw's outfit is hopeful of atoning for an 87-69 "walloping" received in West-ernport on January 17. Another victory for the Bulldogs would keep them in the race until Friday, the final day of the regular season.

Valley Won Opener

Valley's Black Knights, now in second place with a 6-2 record, invade Frostburg tonight and the Mountaineers will be striving to square up accounts for that 65-43 beating absorbed in Lonaconing, January 17. An Allegany victory coupled with a Valley defeat would give the Campers the title, regardless of the outcome of Friday night's games. Beall, now in last place with a 1-7 record, hasn't hurt anybody thus far but one never knows what will happen in a W.M.I. League game when the pressure is on. Beall won both the W.M.I. League and county Class "A" titles last season. A Valley win and an Allegany loss would tie the teams for first place and the final outcome would not be known until Friday when the Campers visit Fort Hill and Bruce hosts Valley.

The third game on tonight's W.M.I. League card features Mt. Savage and Fort Hill on the Sentinel's court. Fort Hill has dropped a lot of close games this season but the "biggest" margin was in the game at Mt. Savage where the Indians won by eight points, 62-54.

LaSalle At Bedford

LaSalle High's Explorers will be shooting for their 12th win of the campaign tonight when they tackle the Bedford High Bisons on the Pennsylvanians' court. Coach George Geatz's cagers won the series opener by the score of 65-46. The Bisons, coached by Bob Andrews, have won six and lost eight.

Piedmont High School has an opportunity to take over sole possession of first place in the Potomac Valley Conference if it defeats Fort Ashby's Eagles tonight on the Piedmont court. The Lions (10-2) and now tied with Circleville (5-1) at 833.

Race May End In Tie

The outcome of the Mineral County League will be determined tonight. Piedmont and Elk Garden are tied for first place with 5-2 records. If both win tonight the race will end in a deadlock and there will be no playoff.

Elk Garden must win at Ridgeley and Piedmont must turn back Fort Ashby for the race to end in a stalemate. Ridgeley lost at Elk Garden, 69-60.

Keyser High (9-3) could move up a notch in the P.V.C. if the Golden Tornado can repeat over Moorefield at the latter place. Coach John R. Shelton's quint holds a 76-63 decision over the Hardy countians.

In other P.V.C. games Petersburg plays at Romney and Capon Bridge is host to Mathias.

Aggies Host Oldtown

Coach Ronnie Kellough's Oldtown High School Indians will be after a sweep of the series when they tackle Flintstone's Aggies at Flintstone tonight. Oldtown scored a 50-35 win in the opener and now owns a 4-12 record. The Aggies are winless in ten outings.

Other games on tap tonight are: Mountaineer High of Thomas at Southern (Oakland), Paw Paw at Hedgesville, Charles Town at Wardensville, Monterey at Circleville, Sanders (Moorefield) at Paige Jackson (Charles Town), Hyndman at Chestnut Ridge and Frederick at Howard County High School.

Salem At Potomac
Potomac State has three more games on its regular slate starting with tonight's WVIAC affair with Salem College on the Keyser court. The Catamounts (5-14) have won only one of 13 conference games played to date. One of the setbacks was dealt by Salem, 84-79. Next week Potomac winds up its schedule by playing Elkins there and Beckley at Keyser.

Recorders Cop Three, McGreevy Spills 565

The Recorders bolstered their lead in the Knights of Columbus Bowling League by taking three games from the Guards last night on the Club Recreation alleys.

In the other match, the last place Grand Knights scored a 2-1 decision over the Chancellors.

High man for the evening was Owen McGreevy, of the Recorders, with a 211-565. Other high scorers were: Tom McGeevy, Chancellors, 202-495; Jack Steiner, Guards, 239-488; and Raymond "Ike" Law, Grand Knights, 454. Standings:

Hercules' 40 point trouncing of Fort Hill, 1144 to 1104, at Bowman's Addition was powered by Jim Spitznogle's score of 290 points. Norm White's 294 set a hard pace for the faltering Fort Hill gunners.

Shooting a home range match, Mountain Top easily outdistanced LaVale, 1132 to 1062. At Oakland, Bob Cain's 287 topped the victors' list, while Jim Kerr's mark of 274 was best for the locals at Bowman's Addition.

The final round of three matches will begin next Sunday with Match No. 13. The course of fire will expand to four positions, including 10 shots in the prone position.

Kentucky Cops 16th

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 13 (INS)—Kentucky's Wildcats scored their 16th basketball win of the season tonight by clawing a hapless Mississippi State quintet, 85 to 65 at Lexington.

It was the ninth win in 10 southeastern conference games for the Wildcats while the maroons suffered their sixth loss in nine league contests.

Sophomore Guard Vernon Hatten paced Kentucky with 25 points while teammate Bob Burrow, center, chipped in with 15.

Sports Grill

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (INS)—Three men who were to win undying fame in the sports world were born during the Civil War.

They were the late Matt Winn of Kentucky Derby fame, Connie Mack, Mr. Baseball himself, who passed on at 93 last week, and Amos Alonzo Stagg, the grand old man of the gridiron, who still survives at 94.

Many years ago — it may have been 20 or more — we made a bedside visit to Stagg, who had just undergone a serious operation. He was then an "old" man, but one would never guess it by listening to him planning on what he intended to do.

Therein, perhaps, was a clue to longevity of all three men. They never acknowledged father time as their master. They simply ignored him as a factor in their lives while they continued to plan and build for the future.

Stagg, the last survivor, was a great athlete at Yale, where he made Walter Camp's All-America football team, and he was so good a pitcher that the Giants offered him $4,000 to turn pro.

That astounding offer for those days followed in the wake of Stagg's striking out 20 Princeton batters.

He began his coaching career with Chicago University in 1892 and developed the Maroon into one of the mightiest teams of the country — So good, indeed, that there was to come a time when one of the jokes of the early football season was the oft-repeated warning—"Stagg Fears Purdue."

In those days of Chicago's football glory, Stagg feared Purdue like Rocky Marciano would fear a midjet. Alonzo Stagg, and not George Halas, was the first terror of the mid-way.

He was the first to use the unbalanced line, the first to use fake and multiple ball handling, the first to use the man in motion and the first to use a spiral pass from center and a flanker.

When Stagg reached the mandatory retirement age of 70, Chicago let him go. But he was far from through. He still could think up new plays and new strategy and tactics, and he still was hale and hardy. Quit? Not he.

He went to little College of the Pacific, and 11 years later — when he was a youthful 81 — his little team beat mighty California and would have defeated unbeaten and united Southern California if the officials hadn't called back two of his team's touchdowns.

That was the year he was voted coach of the year.

We hope to interview him again when he celebrates his 100th birthday. And don't bet he won't reach it.

Yanks Add Rookies

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (INS)—The New York Yankees today announced the signing of two rookies, pitchers who already are hard at work at the club's instructional school at St. Petersburg, Fla.

The two pitchers are Jim DePallo, 23, a righthander from White Plains, N. Y., who had a 9-3 record as a relief workhorse at Birmingham in the Southern Association last season, and Jim O'Reilly, a left-hander with an 8-8 record at Birmingham. O'Reilly, 21, comes from St. Louis.

Hundley Sparks WVU To Victory

Rod Gets 38 Points In 105-90 Triumph

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 13 (INS)—Rod Hundley scorched the nets for 38 points here tonight as West Virginia whipped William and Mary 105-90 to move into undisputed possession of first place in the Southern Conference basketball standings.

The victory gave the Mountaineers a 9-2 conference record with only one league game to go—against this same William and Mary club Feb. 22 on West Virginia's home court.

With a crowd of 2,790 at the Norfolk Arena looking on, Hundley—held to three field goals in the first 20 minutes—came back to hit on 12 of 15 floor attempts in the second half.

The Mountaineers, trailing 43-44 at intermission, moved ahead for good with only a minute gone in the second half but did not pull away until the last five minutes. Then Hundley regaled the crowd with some of his heralded clowning.

Clayce Kishbaugh netted 26 points for the Mounties while Paul Furlong led William and Mary with 20.

Each team hit on 39 field goal attempts, but West Virginia cashed 27 of 41 free throws to 12 of 25 for the Indians.

Auburn Banned From Bowl Games, Placed On Probation

College Gave High School Stars $1,000

SEC Action Stems From Beaubes Case; Fine Is Imposed

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 13 (AP)—Auburn, a swiftly rising football power, today was barred indefinitely from post-season bowl games and placed on probation by the Southeastern Conference for giving $1,000 to two high school stars last December.

Conference action was announced today by SEC Commissioner Bernie Moore. It was taken last week by the SEC executive committee in Atlanta. Moore said the probation bans Auburn from a bowl date next Jan. 1.

The case involved Harry and Robert Beaubes, twin halfbacks on the Emma Sansom High team at Gadsden, Ala. Assistant Coach Hal Herring of Auburn gave each of the twins $500.

School Fined $2,000
The school was fined $2,000 by Moore on Dec. 21.

The indefinite probation is the first in SEC history. The conference announcement included the clause that Auburn "is hereby warned that proof of further violation by its employees may lead to suspension or termination of membership" in the 12-team league.

It also asserted that Auburn "will present positive evidence to the executive committee that the administration has made substantial effort to prevent future violation" of SEC rules.

And, it added that "the conduct of Coach Hal Herring" and certain Auburn alumni "in this case was inexcusable."

Played In Bowl Games
Auburn, a dormant in southern football for years, sent teams to the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., after its 1953, 1954 and 1955 seasons. The team should be a championship contender again this fall.

Last year's club finished second in the conference with an 8-1-1 record and was ranked 9th nationally in the Associated Press poll.

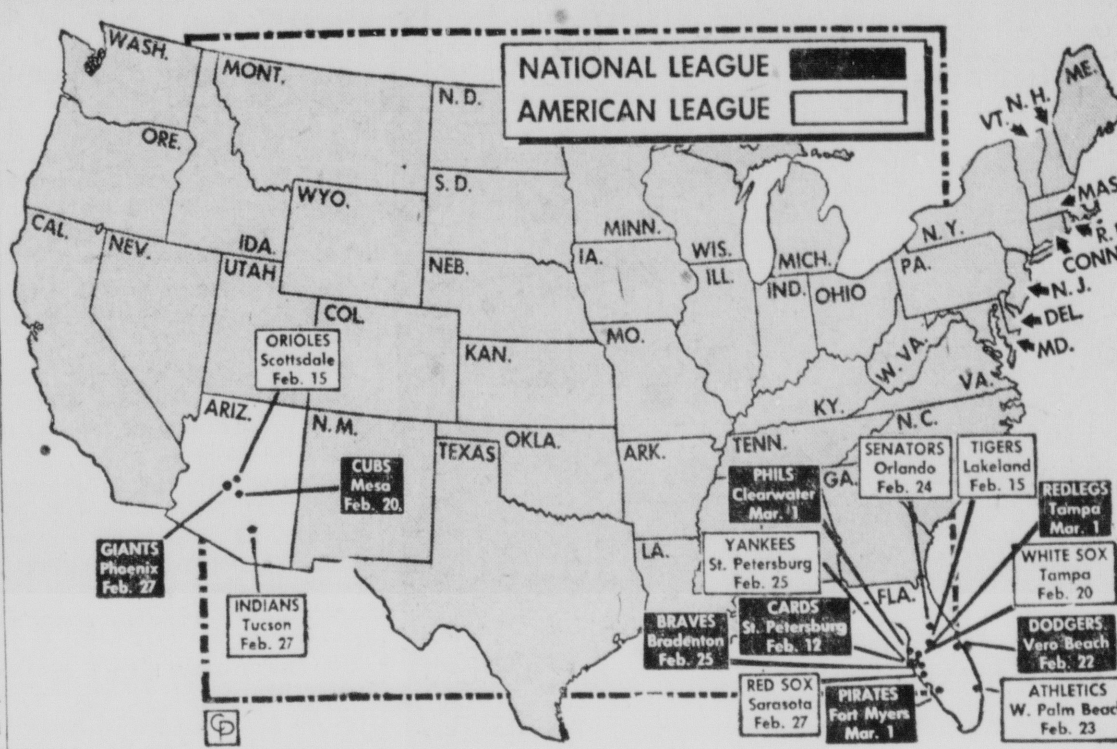

Auburn said: "We accept the judgment of the conference, of course, and we are writing to live by it. I intend to write a letter to the executive committee of the conference thanking them for their hard work and co-operation through the whole thing."

The Beaubes twins had been eagerly sought by Alabama and Auburn.

The University of Alabama was fined $1,000 by Moore last Dec. 30 in another case. Richard Rush, quarterback for Hueytown, Ala., high was given a television set, clothing and $28.47 in cash by Alabama supporters.

Dr. Ralph Draughon, president of Auburn, was not available for comment today.

BASEBALL TRAINING? WHY, IT'S JUST ABOUT HERE

MAJOR LEAGUE baseball teams soon begin their workouts in the sun, in Florida and Arizona, where early starts lifted by several since the March 1 deadline was lifted. Twelve clubs will be in Florida and four in Arizona. Only training site change was that of Baltimore, which shifts from Daytona Beach, Fla., to Scottsdale, Ariz. Opening training dates are listed.

The bidding:
South West North East
1♥ Pass 3♥ 4♦
4♥ Pass 5♦ 5♦
5♥ Pass 6♦ Pass

Obviously, North's double raise in hearts was sound, but the ace of diamonds was a very substantial part of his values for the action and so he was "doubling up" when he next used that ace as the basis for a cue bid in the opponents suit, when, on top of this effort, North actually bid the slam after South declined to take the hint, it was decidedly a case of gilding the lily.

However, considering the outcome, North is not apt to take these comments to heart! West opened the five of diamonds, and South must have been rather disappointed (to put it mildly) when he saw the dummy. Obviously, he might lose a heart spade and a club. The heart finesse resolved the first of his worries, but he still had plenty of work to do. He took out East's heart king, and ruffed his own remaining diamond in dummy. Then he led the king and ace of clubs, giving himself the opportunity to drop the blank Q-J. When this did not come off, there was only one chance left. He led a low spade from dummy and, when East played low, went up with the ace, returning the nine-spot. West followed low, as did dummy, and East had to win with the king.

Now, since East was reduced to diamonds, he had to lead that suit, which permitted declarer to discard dummy's losing club while he himself ruffed, and the rather optimistic contract was done.

Card of Thanks
The family of Michael V. Larkin extends their thanks and appreciation to relatives, friends, and neighbors who were so kind during their recent bereavement. We are grateful to the priest, especially Rev. Michael Smith. We are grateful to Father Post for their thoughtful and personal interest during his life and at the time of his death. Our sincere thanks are extended to those who requested Masses, sent flowers, served as pallbearers, donated the use of their cars, and to all others who in any way rendered assistance.

WIFE AND CHILDREN
I wish to thank my many friends and neighbors for their sympathetic help and thoughtfulness during the illness and following the death of my beloved husband, Harry J. Walsh.
Mrs. Harry J. Walsh

Sen. See Asks State Support For Infirmary

Wants $50,000 Put In 1957-58 Budget

Senator Charles M. See yesterday announced from Annapolis plans to introduce a Senate Joint Resolution calling upon the State of Maryland to contribute toward the support of the Allegheny County Infirmary.

Senator See said the resolution will request Governor McKeldin to place the sum of $50,000 in the 1957-58 budget to assist Allegheny County in operating the county infirmary.

The operation of the infirmary, he said, is becoming a financial burden upon the county while relieving the State of Maryland from the expenditure of a considerable sum of money.

An allotment of $50,000 a year by the state toward the cost of the institution, he added, would help relieve the burden on the taxpayers of this county.

Overall cost of operating the infirmary, Sen. See said, is $208,300, and the payment of $29,500 annually by patients who can afford it brings the net cost to $178,800.

He praised the work of the institution, which is operated with a staff of registered and practical nurses and the county physician.

Allegheny County, he emphasized, wants to continue to operate the infirmary, but is asking assistance in operating costs.

The Allegheny County senator said the bill would be introduced in last night's session and then go to the Senate's Rules Committee.

Turnpike Crash Injures Three Near Everett

Pleasant Dale Man Is Unhurt

Three persons were seriously injured in a car-truck collision about 2:30 p. m. yesterday on the Pennsylvania Turnpike at Everett, Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford reported.

The mishap occurred when a coal truck, driven by Roy Folk of Altoona, being used to haul ashes on the turnpike, made a U-turn and was struck on the left side by a car driven by Lou Strauss, 42, of Roslyn, N. Y.

Investigating officers said the car smashed into the truck with considerable force. Admitted to Bedford Memorial Hospital in fair condition were Strauss and two passengers in his car, Mildred Merlo, 29, and Ann Fritz, 37, both of Easton, Pa.

Hospital attaches said last night Strauss suffered contusions of the chest, abrasions of scalp, laceration of right cheek and eyelid and possible fractured left knee.

The younger woman had lacerations of forehead and severe back injuries as well as abrasions and contusions. Ann Fritz had multiple abrasions and contusions, injuries to right shoulder and forearm, right knee and a fractured right ankle.

Charges have been withheld pending outcome of injuries to the three. Folk was unhurt, police added.

In a similar accident near Augusta, W. Va., about 3 p. m. yesterday a coal truck and automobile collided at Log Cabin on U. S. Route 50, West Virginia State Police at Romney said.

The car, driven by Joseph J. Michael, 65, of Pleasantdale, W. Va., pulled out of a side entrance onto the highway in front of the heavily loaded coal truck, operated by George E. Bowen, Points, W. Va.

Bowen swerved his truck aside as the two vehicles collided and although considerable damage was done to the car neither driver was hurt. The elder man was charged with violation of the right of way by Trooper J. L. Martin who investigated.

Meeting Planned At LaVale Hall

An all-day instructional meeting for fruit and vegetable growers of Allegheny County will start at 9:30 a. m. Thursday at the LaVale Fire Hall with a group of specialists from the University of Maryland and the Horticultural Laboratory at Hancock on the program.

County Agent Joseph M. Steger said that a film, "Climate and the Apple," will begin the program.

A. F. Vierheller from College Park will then talk on "Orchard Management" with special emphasis on fertilization and mouse control. Dr. Ben Rogers of the Hancock laboratory then will offer a short talk on "Irrigation and Chemical Thinning."

Dr. L. O. Weaver, plant pathologist at the University of Maryland, and Dr. Castillo Graham from the laboratory will cover the 1956 spray program for apples and peaches in Allegheny County. They also will recommend sprays for small fruits such as raspberries and strawberries.

After lunch, provided by the Cumberland Fair Association, Dr. Francis C. Stark will talk on "Fertility of Soil for Tomatoes." This will be his first visit to Allegheny County. Dr. Floyd P. Harrison then will discuss the control of insects on peppers, green beans, lima beans, sweet corn, cucumbers, cabbage, muskmelons and watermelons.

"New Varieties and Cultural Practices of Vegetables for 1956" will be discussed by Andrew A. Duncan to round out the program.

Only about 25 growers had made luncheon reservations up to the weekend but Steger was expecting considerably more to attend.

Celco Workers Approve Offer

NARROWS, Va., Feb. 13 (AP) — United Construction Workers Local 153 tonight approved an offer by the Celanese Corp. of America for a 10-cent hourly increase in all wages.

Union approval of the new wage schedule which was made retroactive to 7 a. m. Feb. 12, came at 8 p. m. tonight, just three hours before the deadline set by the union for reaching an agreement before striking.

The old wage contract expired at midnight Friday. The settlement was for a straight 10 cents across the board. The UCW Friday rejected an offer by Celco of a hike averaging 10 cents an hour.

The new schedule affects about 2,000 hourly paid employees at the Celco plant here.

Secretaries' Chapter Burns Midnight Oil For Heart

Algonquin Chapter, National Secretaries Association, for the second time in two years, has furnished valuable assistance to the Allegheny-Garrett Heart Association during its fund campaign. F. Allan Weatherholt, publicity director of the drive noted last night.

The association chapter, comprised of experienced office secretaries, volunteered to prepare, address and mail, several thousand direct appeals for contributions to the Heart Fund.

The girls gave collectively at least 500 hours of their time to the task, and the mailing is being made this week. The Heart Fund quota in Allegheny and Garrett Counties is $14,460, this year.

Working voluntarily, without pay and on their own time, these young women spent several nights at Catherman's Business College and labored over the task of completing the huge mailing. Using volunteers in such work, campaign leaders pointed out, greatly reduces the cost of raising funds for the heart program, and thus assures that every dollar goes for actual heart services.

Catherman's Business College furnished the facilities of their classrooms, including typewriters etc. so the task of preparing the huge mailing could be completed. Among the young women who participated in the work were Mrs. Lucile Bosley, Miss Anna McGraw, Mrs. Joy Jackson, Mrs. Mae Richardson, Mrs. Mary Katherine Reed, Miss Patricia Golden, Mrs. Zetta Scarlett, Miss Charlotte Burns, Mrs. Pauline Grant, Miss Ruth Shaw and Miss Anna Agness. Last year, Weatherholt recalled, the members of Algonquin Chapter contributed a similar worthwhile service to the heart association.

Since then, this same organization has also assisted the Red Cross here, by completing a fully indexed, cross-filed record of every blood donor, so that records of the Allegheny County blood program can be kept up to the minute for immediate reference and use. Red Cross officials, like Heart Fund leaders are liberal in their praise for the volunteer work these women are doing in their civic activity. In each case, they have saved both organizations several hundreds of dollars in record keeping and campaign expense, thus permitting these agencies to reduce the total budget needed for actual operation.

Salvation Army On The March, Board Is Told

Wendt Is Installed As New President

The Salvation Army is meeting the challenge throughout the world, Commissioner Albert E. Chesham, Richmond, Va., reported at the annual meeting of the Cumberland Advisory Board here last night.

The tasks assigned, he said, vary from the care of consumptives in Japan and beggar boys in Korea to the many services furnished by the Salvation Army in the United States.

The Army is marching forward, he said, in 98 countries of the world in the spirit of William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army, who learned it was not practical "to preach about Heaven to a man who had cold feet and an empty stomach."

The Salvation Army slogan, he said, still remains "A man may be down but he's never out."

Salvation Army Advisory Boards, he said, arose during World War I when people at home, learning of the work of the Salvation Army lads and lassies on the fighting front, asked what they could do.

Comm. Chesham praised the work of the Advisory Boards, which have made possible much of the advances of the Army in the United States.

Boards, he said, interpret the Salvation Army to the community, aid the Army by their advice, insure that the community shall receive efficient service from the Army and provide the long-range planning needed by the growing institution.

The Army, he said, is unbiased and its aim is to reach human beings at the point of need. "We must," he said, "be ready to help people."

For the community, the Army is insurance against communism, crime and moral degeneracy, he said.

Comm. Chesham's address followed a dinner meeting in Central YMCA, a fellow Red Feather agency.

Presiding was Daniel Y. Browne, retiring president, who was presented a plaque of appreciation for his work during the past year.

The plaque was presented by Brig. Earl Lord, Baltimore, divisional secretary, who installed William Wendt as president; William Rice, vice president; Carl Amtower, secretary, and John Ankeney, treasurer for the Board.

Capt. Daniel Biggs, commander of the Citadel, 115 North Mechanic Street, introduced Lt. James Pappas, who recently assumed command of the South Cumberland Corps at 511 Virginia Avenue.

Among the guests were Mayor and Mrs. Roy W. Eves and Capt. Ernest Wixson, commander of the Hagerstown corps, who sang a solo.

The financial and activity reports of the Army in Cumberland were presented by Capt. Biggs.

Creek Excavation May Resume Today

The water level in Wills Creek was dropping yesterday, but not enough to allow flood control work to resume.

Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for the Corps of Engineers, said the E. J. Albrecht Company crews will be able to start excavation work in the creek today if the water drops below the temporary bridge at the mouth of the creek.

Dexter said crews were working yesterday on the West Ridgely flood wall and on pipe being installed in connection with levees in East Ridgely.

Roy Yunker Transferred To New PPG Plant Here

Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company has announced the transfer of Roy W. Yunker to Cumberland from the firm's Creighton, Pa., works and the appointments of Joseph J. Celania and Murray A. King to the management staff of its Cumberland Works 7 plate glass manufacturing plant, according to Robert M. Hainsfurther, manager.

Yunker, who was recently appointed assistant plant engineer for the local plant currently under construction, has been serving as electrical engineer at Creighton.

A native of Chicago, he was graduated from the University of Illinois with a Bachelor of Science degree in electrical engineering and received a Master's degree in general engineering from the University of Pittsburgh.

Hainsfurther revealed that Celania will serve as training director while King has been named supervisor of statistical quality control for the multi-million dollar plant which has been under construction since September, 1954.

Celania is expected to transfer to Cumberland later this month from Pittsburgh Plate's industrial relations department which he joined in January. He formerly had served as training director, and also supervised the safety and recreation program for International Steel Company of Evansville, Ind., during the past four years.

A native of Ottumwa, Iowa, Celania attended University of Oklahoma and East Central State College at Ada, Okla., and received a Bachelor of Arts degree in education. Celania has been very active in state and national civil defense, industrial safety and recreational organizations during the past four years.

King formerly had served as quality control engineer at Pittsburgh Plate's Creighton, Pa., plate glass producing plant since last year. He has been associated with the company since 1947 when he joined as a chemist in Glass Division Research, also at Creighton.

He is a native of Etna, Penn., and was graduated from the University of Pittsburgh with a Bachelor of Science degree in chemistry. He is a member of the American Chemical Society and American Society of Quality Control.

Tydings To Run If His Success Seems Likely

February 27 Is Filing Deadline

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 13 (AP)—Millard E. Tydings said tonight he will run for the Democratic nomination to the U. S. Senate if enough support shows up by Feb. 27 to assure him of "possible success."

Feb. 27 is the filing deadline for the Senate primary which George P. Mahoney was thought to have sewed up through lack of a formidable opponent.

The so-called draft movement of Tydings came to light Saturday through an urging from Kent County Democrats. It was reported the draft was decided upon at a meeting last week attended by Arthur Brice, Kent County leader, Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, who recently eliminated himself as a candidate, E. Brooke Lee and G. Lansdale Sasser, veteran party leaders from Prince Georges and Montgomery counties, among others.

Tydings, in a statement today, disclaimed any part in the Kent County request that he become a candidate. But he said, "It seems to be spreading rapidly to other counties and to Baltimore City from information I am receiving."

Tydings, who was knocked out of the U. S. Senate seat he had held for 24 years by John Marshall Butler, said, "Until the last few days I had not seriously considered being a candidate again for any elective office."

Butler again is seeking the Republican nomination against D. John Markey of Frederick.

Tydings said, "If between now and Feb. 27 sufficient published and open requests that I become a candidate are made by leading Democrats and citizens in enough counties and Baltimore City, and if the sum of these requests from the counties and Baltimore City indicate possible success in the nominating convention, I feel I would owe it as a duty to my party and to the people of Maryland to enter the lists."

Votes in the Democratic nominating convention are equal to the same number of seats each county and the city has in the Legislature. The winner by popular vote in each district gets all the votes. It requires a total of 77 for the nomination.

Telephone bells have been ringing all over the state since the Kent County "draft" movement started Saturday in an effort to woo endorsements away from Mahoney for Tydings.

Mahoney already has the endorsement of 15 Democratic County state central committees.

Oldtime leaders of the Democratic party have been trying for months to line up opposition for Mahoney. Put forth and declining to run in addition to Mayor D'Alesandro have been former Gov. W. Preston Lane Jr., William C. Walsh, former attorney general of Maryland, and Philip Perlman, former U. S. solicitor general.

Democratic leaders in Dorchester County, already counted in the Mahoney fold, late today turned thumbs down on the Kent County "draft Tydings" move.

Emerson C. Harrington and Grason W. Winterbottom Jr., leaders of two party factions in the county which haven't always seen eye-to-eye, reiterated their joint support of Mahoney.

"I made a promise to George P. Mahoney and I do not break a promise," Harrington said. "I feel once a promise is made, whether it be in business or politics, that promise should be kept. I therefore shall continue to support Mr. Mahoney."

Survey Crews Gather Data For Expressway

Green Associates To Open Office Here

Crews of Green Associates, Inc., Baltimore, are securing survey information needed to design the Crosstown Expressway here, and will open a field office here within a few weeks.

The field office will be located at a Harrison Street and will be officially opened late this month or early next month, according to C. E. Petty, who is in charge of the crew.

He said the crews have been busy since January 31 running traverse lines and making a study of the alignment of the project as provided by the Maryland State Roads Commission.

Data on street locations and buildings along the lines are also being compiled.

Late last month, the State Roads Commission awarded a contract to the firm of consulting engineers to design a three-mile section of the expressway, and furnish all the services, from surveying to the final blueprints.

The SRC said the Baltimore firm will design the section of the expressway starting on Route 40 at a point 800 feet east of the intersection of Willowbrook Road and Baltimore Avenue.

The Green project will extend westward along the expressway parallel to Central Avenue, across the B&O Railroad, the southern part of the downtown business district, over the Western Maryland Railway tracks and follow the Potomac River to a point just west of Kelly Boulevard.

The firm will also design the Industrial Boulevard from a point south of Harrison Street to Second Street.

Connecting portions of the expressway program will be designed by the State Roads Commission.
